BRAZIL JOINS ALLIES AS ENEMY OF GERMANY

INHERITANCE TAXES ON MANY MILLIONS LOST TO THE STATE

Faulty Systems or No Systems at All in Many Counties of Georgia Held Responsible by the Attorney General.

ATTEMPTING TO RECOVER ON $3,500,000 ESTATES

Fulton Assessment Plan Unfair, Asserts Walker in His Annual Report—Bibb County Called Lax in Law Enforcement.

The state has lost the income on taxable values totaling from $5,000,000 to $7,500,000 in the last four years, through lack of vigorous and efficient representation of the state's interests in the collection of inheritance taxes, in the opinion of Attorney General Cliff Walker, as expressed in his inheritance tax report submitted to the general assembly Thursday.

The attorney general states that his office is now investigating three estates, reported to him as probably subject to taxation, valued at $3,500,000. In addition to this, his report states that nineteen counties report defaulting estates valued at $2,555,000, and all of these estates are located in counties which have no large city. More than this number of such counties, he says, have not yet reported.

Faulty or No Systems.

Other counties, the report declares, have faulty or no systems at all for the appraisal of estates and the collection of inheritance taxes.

In the forefront of such counties the attorney general places Fulton county, in which county, he says, inheritance taxes are being arbitrarily assessed on a basis of 45 per cent of the value of the property, though the law requires that estates shall be assessed at "their actual or market value." That Fulton should thus assess her inheritance taxes arbitrarily at less than half the actual value of the estate, while estates in Oglethorpe, Muscogee and other counties are being assessed at their full value, the attorney general holds as manifestly unfair.

Bibb county is even more lax in the enforcement of the inheritance tax law than Fulton, he says. As to Bibb county the attorney general says: "Frankness forces me to say that there seems to be no business-like checking of estates actually administered. Estates by the dozen have escaped taxation. Some of the leading lawyers have been administrators or executors of some of these defaulting estates. It is amazing to note the number of estates liable to the 5 per cent tax which have not been returned or assessed."

Inheritance Tax Report.

The attorney general's inheritance tax report is as follows:

"To Governor Nat E. Harris, State Capitol, Dear Sir: In re. Inheritance Taxes.

"The act of August 8, 1916, contains the following provision:

"'It shall be the duty of the attorney general to enforce the payment and collection of all inheritance due or that may become due unto the state.'

"I have the honor to submit my report of my efforts to comply with the terms of this law.

"Careful preliminary investigations into the operation of the inheritance tax law covering a period of several months convinced me that the protection of the interests of the state absolutely required a detail examination into every estate administered in the state absolutely required a decree of the fact. I, therefore, associated as good lawyers as I could secure in each county for that purpose. Their reports of this office and briefly abstracted in this report conclusively demonstrate the wisdom of this action.

"1. Nineteen of the country counties (those which do not include a large city) report defaulting estates valued at $2,555,000.

"2. More than this number of such counties have not yet reported. Many of the smaller counties have few wealthy citizens, so it is impossible to estimate, but it is reasonable to expect a large sum—perhaps the equal of the amount first reported—from the remaining country counties.

"3. Through local counsel I am investigating the status of three other estates reported to me as probably subject to the taxation and valued at $3,500,000. In one of these the question of legal residence alone is involved. In another the question of gifts made immediately before death is at issue. In the third the question of the bar of the ordinary's certificate is raised.

"4. It is in the city counties where most wealthy citizens reside, and, of course, from these counties the bulk of the inheritance taxes should be collected. In Fulton coun-

Swallowing $20 Bill Is Cause of Murder And of Fatal Duel

New York, June 28.—A duel resulting from the murder of Frank Casselli, who was killed by his companions last Monday in Boston because he swallowed a $20 bill as they were dividing the spoils of another murder and robbery, was fought in a west side rooming house here today. It ended in the death of Mathew Joseph Casselli, a cousin of Frank, and the probable mortal injury of Thomas Abruzzi.

Abruzzo, the police say, told them that he and the Casselis went to Boston early in June and that after a robbery they went to a rooming house where Frank Casselli was killed. The other two returned to New York and quarreled over whether they should remain here or go west. Casselli, the police were told by Abruzzo, fired the first shot and then they clinched, using their knives.

BIG ARMY HOSPITAL WILL COST $300,000

New Buildings to Be Constructed to Care for Seventeenth Regiment and German Prisoners.

The converting of the permanent barracks buildings and other structures at Fort McPherson, and of other buildings to be constructed there, into one of the largest army base hospitals in the military establishment is absolutely assured, according to a dispatch from Washington last night which confirms the story published by The Constitution Thursday morning. It is learned further that temporary buildings now going up at Fort McPherson are a part of the general plan for this hospital.

The base hospital at Fort McPherson is to be built and established at a cost of $300,000. It is planned to build a cantonment at Fort McPherson to shelter the German prisoners and their guard, and the permanent buildings now being used as barracks at the fort are to be used as hospital buildings.

In addition to these permanent buildings, it is understood an additional hospital building will be constructed at a cost of $90,000. Still another additional structure will be an operating room, amply commodious to accommodate the surgical needs of the base hospital, and equipped with the most modern instruments.

The decision to establish the base hospital at Fort McPherson grew out of objections recently by medical men who had inspected the plans for the new army cantonment at Silver Lake to house a division of the new national army, that inadequate hospital facilities were provided.

To meet this objection and to carry out plans already in contemplation the medical department has obtained the consent of the chief of staff of the army to use the buildings at Fort McPherson as hospital buildings.

Colonel John D. Glennon, of the army medical corps, stated Thursday in Washington that in addition to hospital buildings to accommodate five hundred beds to be constructed at each of the cantonments, the base hospital at Fort McPherson will be enlarged to accommodate 1,000 to 1,200 beds. The overflow from the national guard and national army camps will be sent there.

The officers and men of the Seventeenth infantry who are now quartered in the permanent buildings at Fort McPherson, and the German prisoners whom they are guarding, will live in newly-constructed cantonments similar to those in which the national army will be quartered while in training.

BOY BADLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO; DRIVER NOT KNOWN

Leonard Landers, ten-year-old son of D. N. Landers, of 13 Plum street, was run down by an automobile last night at about 10 o'clock at the corner of Marietta and Bartow streets. The boy was immediately removed to Grady hospital and it is thought that his skull was fractured in the accident. The police have not discovered the identity of the driver of the automobile.

Mexican Smugglers Caught.

El Paso, Texas, June 28.—A cavalry patrol intercepted a band of thirty Mexicans engaged in carrying ammunition across the Rio Grande at Rocky Ford, 7 miles east of here, early today. Two of the Mexicans were caught, but the others escaped into Mexico. The ammunition was dropped by the smugglers, some of it in the middle of the river.

TEACHERS ELECTED AND ARE ASSIGNED AT BOARD MEETING

Over 100 Instructors, Who Partially Failed on Examinations, Re-elected on Condition They Make Up Deficiencies.

MISS MUSE CRITICISED BY MEMBERS OF BOARD

Despite Objections, However, Request for Two Additional Teachers at the Girls' High School Is Granted.

At a long session of the board of education yesterday afternoon, which at times bordered on the sensational, and during which Miss Jessie Muse, principal of the Girls' High school, was criticised by two members for alleged disregard of instructions, grammar and high school teachers for the ensuing year were elected and assigned. After strenuous objection on the part of Harvey Hatcher and James L. Key, the request for two additional teachers at the Girls' High, which brought forth their criticism of Miss Muse, was granted.

The twenty-two white teachers and eighty-odd negro teachers who made partial failures recently in examinations were elected on condition that they make up their deficiencies before school opens in September.

Board members who opposed the conditional election of these teachers and favored dispensing with their services on grounds that they had had nine months' notice from the board to make up their deficiencies declared that electing them was "virtually admitting to the public that the board did not have enough competent teachers for all grades."

Of the new applicants who stood examinations only six whites and one colored passed.

More High School Teachers.

A warm fight was precipitated when Superintendent J. C. Wardlaw recommended that thirteen additional high school teachers be employed for next year. Two are to be placed at the Girls' High school to take care of an expected increase of seventy-four new pupils.

Harvey Hatcher, Second ward board member, at this point declared himself opposed to the increase for the Girls' High school, stating that Miss Jessie Muse, the principal of this school, "had put one over on the board of education last year, disobeying the orders of the board," and "that he feared she was attempting to put another one over on the board this year."

"Miss Muse's diplomacy in disobeying the orders of the board of education in order to maintain jobs for some of her teachers should give her a rank right along with Bismarck, Talleyrand and other famous diplomats," said Mr. Hatcher.

"Last year she was instructed by us to have every instructor teach five periods of 40 minutes each of major subjects, having 35 students to each class room. When she found by rearranging her class rooms with 35 to a class and having each teacher teach five periods each day in major subjects that she had no periods left for seven teachers, she disregarded the order of the board and cut her classes down to 31 pupils in order to give these seven teachers, who were not needed, something to do.

"Is that not so?" queried Mr. Hatcher of Superintendent Wardlaw.

"It is so, Mr. Hatcher," the superintendent replied. "And it was done without authority or the knowledge of the heads of the school department."

Taking Care of Teachers.

"Yes, and I don't see why she needs two more teachers this year," continued Mr. Hatcher. "She is probably trying to put another one over on the board this year, and get jobs for her teachers."

James L. Key, board representative from the fourth ward, seconded Mr. Hatcher's remarks, asserting that Miss Muse had disobeyed orders.

The board finally decided to grant

Elder-Dempster Steamer Sunk Without Warning; 8 Killed in Small Boat

London, June 28.—The Elder-Dempster steamer Addah was torpedoed without warning and sunk by a German submarine on June 15. The submarine fired on the captain's boat, killing eight men.

The submarine fired on the master's boat from a distance of between 300 and 400 yards. The shot took the boat's stern completely off, when the submarine continued firing while the men were swimming about. It fired also on the chief officer's boat, which was pierced by a shell, but nobody was killed, though several were slightly wounded.

All the survivors were picked up by a French steamer at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of June 16.

GREGORY FAVORS JUDGE W. E. THOMAS

Georgia Senators Refuse to Discuss the Matter, But, It Is Believed, Will Fight Nomination.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 28.—(Special.)—Attorney General Gregory is understood to have notified Senators Hoke Smith and Thomas W. Hardwick that he is prepared to send to the white house a recommendation of W. E. Thomas of Valdosta for appointment as federal district judge of the southern district of Georgia and asked if they will consent to his confirmation.

Neither of the Georgia senators is willing to discuss the matter, but it is generally believed here they will fight the nomination. Whether Mr. Gregory will put up Judge Thomas to be sacrificed, as was Judge U. V. Whipple, is not known. The situation in the senate apparently has not changed and "senatorial courtesy" can again be invoked to defeat an executive appointment.

Senator Hardwick has not yielded his position that if the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Lumbdin is to be filled, it must be with a man of his choosing.

The president and the attorney general are not yet ready to accept Senator Hardwick's dictation in the matter, and the vacancy remains. Many prominent attorneys of the southern district have been in Washington recently appealing to Senator Hardwick to abandon his opposition in the public interest and permit the court to catch up with accumulated business.

HIGHEST AIR DUEL FATAL FOR GERMANS

Canadian Army Headquarters in France, June 28.—In an air duel fought at probably the highest altitude at which aviators have met in combat—nearly four miles—a Canadian tri-plane today pursued and defeated a German two-seated aviatik.

At a height of 20,000 feet the pilot of the German craft either fell or jumped from it and disappeared at the moment of the first burst of fire from the gun on the Canadian. The German observer was then seen to climb out upon the tail of his machine, where he lost his hold and plunged headlong. The aviatik fell.

WIRE-CUTTING DEVICE ON NEW GERMAN U-BOAT

Base of the American Flotilla in British waters, June 28—(By the Associated Press.)—The captain of a torpedo merchantman has turned over to the naval authorities here a sketch of a new type of German submarine equipped with a wire-cutting device designed to release it from nets. The sketch shows several strands of stout steel hawzers stretched from the bow through the conning tower to the stern. Attached to these is a series of heavy circular knives, a foot in diameter, and placed about a yard apart.

BOY SCOUTS CALLED TO RED CROSS DUTY TO HELP GET QUOTA

Youths Will Deliver Personal Messages Today, Directed to Men of Means Who Have Failed to Give to Cause.

NEGROES OF ATLANTA URGED TO DO SHARE

Women of Atlanta Will Do Their Part in Campaign Tomorrow—Not Quite $130,000 Raised During Three Days.

Atlanta's Boy Scouts have been added to the roster of public-spirited organizations which have been mobilized to keep Atlanta from falling short in its duty to the Red Cross. Today eager youngsters will deliver personal messages directed to the rich who have failed to respond with the traditional generosity of Atlanta's wealthy class.

Tomorrow the women, who have rallied to the call, will mobilize to canvass the city in the most vigorous campaign the fair sex has yet waged for any cause.

In addition to summoning the Boy Scouts and women to the Red Cross colors, representatives have been named among the negroes to urge them to help raise the Atlanta fund. A liberal response is expected, since among the troops which this week arrived on French soil are the pick of the negro military organizations in Uncle Sam's regulars.

Captains Are Named.

Leaders among their race have been named to work among the colored people, each serving as captain, and organizing a team of his or her own, and all are instructed to attend the conference to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Big Bethel church.

Dr. Moses Amos, Dr. W. F. Penn, Dr. L. B. Palmer, Dr. H. R. Butler, Alice D. Carey, Mary B. Greenwood, Mamie Hailey, Clara M. Cater, B. J. Davis, H. E. Perry, S. W. Walker, Henry A. Rucker, W. S. Cannon, A. Graves, A. F. Herndon, W. J. Trent, Rev. A. D. Williams, Rev. R. D. Stinson, Rev. E. P. Johnson, Rev. L. H. King, Rev. R. H. Singleton, Rev. W. H. Nelson, Rev. H. H. Proctor, Rev. P. J. Regarding the failure of the wealthy class to contribute as liberally as expected for a cause as urgent as the Red Cross, W. C. McGill, director of the campaign for the southern division, issued a statement Thursday to the effect that he believed it to be due largely to overconfidence.

"Most of us are too confident," he said. "In fact, it has already gone abroad that Atlanta's portion will be oversubscribed. Overconfidence has brought defeat in many a battle which would have otherwise been waged to victory."

The total for the three days last night stood at $139,769.66. Thursday's contributions, however, fell far short of any previous day, totaling only $31,207.76. This latter amount had been subscribed largely in small remittances from salaried men. The day's largest

$180,000,000 Is Slashed From Country's Coal Bill

Washington, June 28.—Sweeping reductions in the price of bituminous coal at all mines east of the Mississippi river, ranging from $1 to $5 a ton to the public, with a further cut of 50 cents for the government, were agreed upon today at conferences between the operators and government officials. The new prices become effective July 1.

Four hundred operators, who gathered here yesterday at a call from Secretary Lane, and pledged themselves to furnish their product at reasonable prices, were represented in the final conferences by committees from each field. Earlier in the day they had agreed to place the price-fixing in the hands of the government, through the defense council's coal production committee, Secretary Lane and Commissioner Fort, of the federal trade commission, thus avoiding the possibility of violating the anti-trust laws.

Director Smith, of the geological survey; estimated that the reduced prices would mean that the operators would get $180,000,000 less annually for their output and that the saving to the government and the coal-consuming public would be even greater.

Only One Commission.

In addition to placing prices upon coal at the mines it was announced that jobbers, brokers, retailers and commission men would be permitted to charge commissions of not more than 25 cents a ton, and that no more than one commission should be charged. In other words, the consumer will get his coal at the mine price plus transportation charges and 25 cents per ton.

The agreement does not affect anthracite, and the coal production committee announced tonight that action on that problem had been postponed until after July 1 by agreement with the operators. The [illegible] producers have indicated willingness to meet the government in the same spirit manifested by the bituminous men.

In the final conferences trade secrets between competitors, cost prices and other confidential information was laid on the table, and the government, acting as judge, decided what would be the highest prices paid at mines, prices to go into effect on the 1st of July, to stay in effect until investigations are made and other changes ordered.

Give Minimum Price.

Representatives from various states were asked to quote the minimum prices at which they could furnish coal. The Clearfield district of Pennsylvania agreed to cut its price for coal as it was loaded at the mouth of the mine from $5.25 to $3, with $3.50 for lump sizes. Tennessee came down from $4.50 to $3. Virginia did likewise. West Virginia reduced the current contract price of $5.60 to $3, and Illinois and Indiana reduced their prices to $2.75 for coal as it came from the mines.

Alabama, which mines under different conditions, with special expenses, reduced its price from $5.50 to $3 at the lowest and $4 at the highest. Maryland lowered its estimate from $5.75 to the standard figure, $3 and $3.50.

All the remaining districts east of Illinois that were represented also agreed to the new figures except one or two with special conditions, which were deferred for further consideration.

The figures met the entire approval of Chairman Peabody, of the defense council's committee; Secretary Lane and Commissioner Fort. In several instances they discussed frankly the situation in certain districts with the representatives from those districts, while asking for lower figures, and in each instance they met the hearty cooperation of the operators. The prices

Flood Sweeps Village As Reservoir Breaks; Dynamiter Suspected

Baker, Ore., June 28.—Carrying destruction in its path, millions of gallons of water from a reservoir high in the Elkhorn mountains, 15 miles west of Haines, swept through the village of Rock Creek, destroying crops on thousands of acres, killed live stock, depriving Baker and Haines of electric power and interrupted telegraph and telephone service today. So far as known no lives were lost. At Rock Creek several buildings were destroyed. Several families had narrow escapes.

Officials of the company owning the reservoir declared tonight they believed that the dam had been dynamited and they caused the arrest of a discharged workman named Gray. He protested innocence.

PROHIBITION FIGHT DELAYS FOOD BILL

Hardwick Would Return Bill to Committee on the Ground That "Dry" Sections Are Unconstitutional.

Washington, June 28.—The fight in congress over government control of food and other necessaries today virtually narrowed to the question of prohibition.

The house control bill as amended by the senate agriculture committee was substituted in the senate for its original draft and debate proceeded, Senator Lodge opening with a speech in favor of continuing manufacture of beer and wine. The bill as it now stands would prohibit the manufacture of all intoxicating liquors, but empowers the president to exempt wines.

Senators Johnson, of California, and Kellogg, of Minnesota, delivered prepared speeches on the general feature of the bill, promising it their support as a war measure.

Lapse of several days in general discussion and delivery of set speeches on other provisions before the prohibition fight develops in earnest is in prospect. There is pending a motion by Senator Hardwick to send the bill back to the committee on the ground that the prohibition and other important sections are unconstitutional.

May Invoke Cloture.

Senate sentiment is said generally to favor stopping manufacture of distilled spirits, so the debate will center upon beer and wines. Resort for the first time to the senate's new cloture rule in an effort to hasten action may be attempted, although there is such a marked division of opinion over the question of permitting brewing to continue that leaders say it would be impossible to secure cloture.

Senator Chamberlain, in charge of the bill, said tonight he hoped general speech-making would end tomorrow and that the senate by Saturday would begin considering committee amendments, expected to take several days. The prohibition sections under such procedure would be reached last.

"Profitable Patriotism."

"America must make the sacrifice in dollars and creature comforts within the next year, or she must make thereafter the sacrifices in men—and then, ultimately, the sacrifice in material things as well," he said. "The short cut to victory is organization, and this organization can come only with a concentration of authority. It is, therefore, with an absolute confidence that I give my vote to a bill according to most extraordinary and autocratic powers ever before conferred in our nation.

"While, of course, legitimate enterprise during the conflict should be nurtured and encouraged, it must understand from the very beginning that no profitable patriotism will be tolerated. If a concrete illustration were required to demonstrate the necessity for some sort of legislation in relation to prices, it is found in the recent discussion concerning the steel corporation. We find, before the war, this corporation selling its product from $21 to $25 a ton. At the beginning of 1916 its contracts for the delivery of steel plates to commercial shipbuilding concerns was $43.56 per ton, and very recently it asked from the United States government $95 per ton.

"When an ordinary man sees his loved boy snatched from his home to be shot to pieces upon a foreign soil and reads of profits asked by a corporation created by this government of six hundred millions per year during the war, he cannot be blamed for the demand in which our people unite and in which the congress unites by the passage of just such bills as this."

Praise for Hoover.

Senator Johnson praised Herbert C. Hoover, and said he is particularly fitted for the task of food administrator.

Senator Lodge, saying he would vote for the bill after it had been carefully considered, opposed some of its provisions as amazing and said public "excitement" for food control legislation is pressing upon congress with little public conception of the powers the bill proposes to confer.

"The people only know of its provisions in a general way," he said. "Congress must also consider the people who are seeking for more huge power. More than one of the Caesars went mad by mere possession of unrestrained power. We have pressure constantly to give more power."

The Massachusetts senator opposed particularly the proposal that the American industries shall sell to foreign nations as well as the American government at low prices. He said the minimum price fixing provision holds "over the heads of all business and industry a deadly threat," and protested against the exemptions of farmers from the hoarding section.

Not Urged by Administration.

Opposing the "dry" legislation as an injection of a moral issue and not a war measure, the senator directed attention to the fact that the effort to impose prohibition on the country "has been mixed up with food conservation" by congress itself and not the administration. He declared himself in favor of prohibiting the manufacture of distilled liquors during the war, but

CANADIAN TROOPS CONTINUE ADVANCE THRO' LENS SUBURB

In Second Attack Warriors of Dominion Hack Way Half Through Ruins of Avion.

BRITONS FIRMLY HOLD RESERVOIR HILL LINE

Defeat the Crack Prussian Guards in Onslaught—Fall of Lens Seemingly Cannot Long Be Delayed.

New York, June 28.—(By Associated Press. From Cables of the Day.)—Brazil is no longer a neutral in the world war and the German empire has another enemy arrayed against it.

Having previously revoked its policy of aloofness, so far as it affected the hostilities between the United States and Germany, Brazil now has come definitely into the open and announced that it can no longer be considered neutral in the war between the entente and Germany.

Although no announcement has been made as to whether the South American republic will actually enter into hostilities by its revocation of neutrality, it definitely aligns itself morally on the side of the United States and the entente.

The Canadians—men from all parts of the Dominion—have taken another hack at the German lines protecting Lens, the coal center in the department of Pas de Calais, and have been rewarded with a further encroachment upon their objective.

Striking on a two-mile front south of Lens the Canadians from Nova Scotia, central Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia, protected by effective artillery fire, forced their way half through Avion and also the village of Loosette. They defeated in their onslaughts men of the crack Prussian guard and the Fifth Grenadier guards, whose machine gun and rifle fire and the foot that the attacking force had to cut through wire entanglements, could not stay them.

FALL OF LENS NEAR AT HAND.

When the battle ended and the Canadians began their work of consolidating newly won positions, their line had been extended to within one mile of the center of Lens, the fall of which, under such tenacious assaults as have been made recently, seemingly cannot be long delayed.

On the remainder of the front in France there have been only bombardments between the French and Germans. In Belgium the Germans are carrying out heavy bombardments of French and Belgian positions at numerous points from the sea southward. In attacks south of St. George's the Germans entered French trenches, but later were ejected from them, suffering heavy casualties.

Only minor operations are in progress on the other fronts. In the Russian theater the fighting is still spirited in Galicia. In the Austro-Italian zone infantry attacks have again ceased for the moment and only artillery duels are taking place. Patrol engagements and artillery duels continue to feature the fighting in Macedonia.

It was added that warships of the entente would be permitted to visit Brazilian ports without adhering to time limits imposed by neutrality.

BRITONS ON OUTSKIRTS OF LENS SUBURB.

London, June 28.—The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"Considerable further progress, in the course of which we have captured a number of prisoners, has been made by us during the day south of the Souchez river. Our line in this area again has been advanced on a front of nearly two miles. Our troops have reached the outskirts of Avion.

"Activity in the air continued yesterday. One enemy airplane was brought down in the air fighting; two others were driven down out of control. In addition, two hostile machines were shot down and two others were driven down by fire from the ground. Four of our airplanes are missing."

Berlin, via London, June 28.—The official statement issued from general headquarters this evening reads:

"In the west, apart from lively fighting in the forenoon on the Lens-Arras road, there is nothing of importance to report."

CANADIAN TROOPS FORCE WAY HALF THROUGH AVION

Canadian Headquarters in France, June 28.—Fighting their way forward amid a labyrinth of ruined houes over which the smoke of battle hung densely, the Canadians at sundown tonight were more than half way through Avion. The attack, which was the second in 24 hours, was made in conjunction with the British troops, all of whom reached their objectives.

On the north the hold upon Reservoir Hill was made absolutely by the gallant advance of the British soldiers who went forward unchecked despite heavy enemy shelling.

The German trenches on the eastern side were occupied within half an hour after the attack began. Throughout the day there had been incessant artillery activity. The Germans kept Coulotte and the Lens-Arras road under shrapnel fire throughout the afternoon, evidently to make difficult the assemblage of troops for a further advance into Avion.

Their former front line on the outskirts of Avion was also hammered with high explosives and considerably damaged. The Canadian guns did much counter battery work to the east of Lens, where most of the enemy's guns now are located.

There was comparative calm for a short time before 7 o'clock. When the appointed time came on a front of many miles from the Scarpe to a point well to the north of Souches river hundreds of guns opened in a terrific cannonade. Soon Reservoir Hill, Lens itself, Avion and the region to the outh, were hidden behind an almost impenetrable veil of smoke from bursting shells. Amid this the infantry, who had remained inactive throughout the day, rushed forward.

The Canadians, heartened by successes gained during the last few days at relatively small cost, decided this morning to attack across the open ground sloping upwards to Avion and the village of Leauvette, near the Souchez river. They met with opposition of a serious character at only one point, where a combination of machine gun fire and uncut wires delayed the advance. The attack was not intended to be pressed home at this particular spot, as the ground specially favored the Germans, so that the delay did no harm.

The assaulting troops comprised men from British Columbia, Manitoba, Central Ontario and Nova Scotia.

By this morning's advance the British line has been carried forward to within one mile of the center of Lens. The attack was made along a two-mile front. On the extreme left, Nova Scotians pushed their way up the Lens-Arras road to the village of Leauvette. Here they took a number of prisoners.

At the other end of the line, east of the railway tracks, enemy dugouts were bombed. Their occupants belonged to the crack Prussian Guards corps, the Fifth Guard Grenadiers, who refused in most places to come out and surrender. One officer and twenty-one men of the Grenadiers decided that discretion was the better part of valor. Others are believed to be still alive in the dugouts, which will be thoroughly explored.

At daybreak Canadian airplanes flying low over Avion saw few Germans there. Craters which recently were made by mine explosions at the cross roads are now seriously hindering them in bringing up troops from Lens for counter attacks.

The enemy's guns have been shelling Canadian communication trenches, but Canadian "heavies" are now taking them on with good results.

FRENCH SHELLING GERMAN GUNS.

Paris, June 28.—Tonight's French official communication reads:

"Intermittent bombardments occurred in the region of Hurtebise monument, on Teton height, Mont Blond and Carnillet. The enemy artillery was vigorously counter-shelled by us along the whole front, and particularly on the left bank of the Meuse, on the slopes of Mont des Roches. North of Jouy a strong enemy patrol, which attempted a surprise attack, was repulsed.

"A German airplane was brought down by one of our machines, and fell in the Bois de Beau-Marais, south of Craonne. The pilot, who was wounded, and an officer observer, unwounded, were taken prisoner.

"The Germans continued to bombard Rheims, into which 1,200 shells were fired today, eight on the cathedral.

"Belgian communication: In the night the enemy south of St. George's sent an assaulting detachment against one of our posts, which it succeeded in penetrating, but was immediately rejected after a hand to hand fight, suffering heavy losses. The artillery fighting was very lively along the whole front, particularly in the sector of Steenstrasse.

GERMANS BOMBARD PORT OF DUNKIRK.

Berlin, June 28.—(Via London. British Admiralty Per Wireless Press.)—German heavy long range batteries yesterday bombarded the Anglo-French fortified port of Dunkirk with visible effect, says the official statement issued today by the German war department. In retaliation entente artillery bombarded the German occupied town of Ostend, in Belgium, but, the statement adds, the shells did no military damage.

The statement reads as follows:

"Western theater, army group of Crown Prince Rupprecht: Heavy long range batteries yesterday bombarded the Anglo-French fortified port of Dunkirk with visible effect. As a retaliatory measure, the enemy took Ostend under his fire. There was no military damage. A bombardment by our artillery and mine throwers caused great damage to the English trenches on the coast.

"After a quiet morning the firing activity in some sectors on the Flanders and Artois fronts increased to an appreciable extent. Southeast of Nieuport a Belgian post was broken up by our thrusting troops.

"Near Hooge an enemy reconnoitering advance failed.

"South of the Cambrai-Arras road the British suffered considerable losses in killed and prisoners during the clearing of a trench by Westphalian and Rhenish storming troops.

"In the forefield of our positions at St. Quentin several minor engagements developed between our outposts and British detachments.

"Army group of the German crown prince: At isolated places north of the Aisne, north of Rheims and in the western Champagne, lively artillery duels developed.

"Army group of Duke Albrecht: On Hartmannsweilerkopf reconnoitering troops belonging to a Wurttemburgian regiment broke into French trenches and made a number of prisoners."

The statement regarding the Russian front and that in Macedonia reads:

"Eastern war theater: The lively fighting activity continued on the eastern Galician front.

"Macedonian front: There were no important developments."

AIRPLANES BOMB TURKISH STEAMER.

London, June 28.—"British airplanes have bombed one of the few remaining Turkish river steamers," says an official report issued today regarding operations in Mesopotamia.

"At least one direct hit was secured with a 65-pound bomb on June 22.

"Hostile airplanes bombed our camps, without causing damage, on June 25. The next day British airmen dropped 24 bombs on enemy camps at Tekrit. Seven direct hits were secured on tents, which were destroyed. It was observed that other bombs exploded amongst the tents, inflicting damage. All the British machines returned."

RUMANIAN MISSION ARRIVES AT CAPITAL

Washington, June 28.—Rumania's mission to the United States reached Washington today unannounced and sought quarters at a hotel. Dr. Vasile Lucaci is the head of the party and is accompanied by Johan Mota and Lieutenant V. Stoica. They will call at the state department tomorrow and introduce themselves, in the absence of a Rumanian diplomatic representative in Washington. The mission is not strictly of a diplomatic character and will devote itself largely to efforts to stimulate recruiting for the Rumanian army among their fellow countrymen in America.

5 PER CENT ADVANCE IN FOOD FOR MONTH

Increase of 29 Per Cent for Year Ending May 15—Increase for Four Years Is 56 Per Cent.

Washington, June 28.—Retail food prices in the United States advanced on an average of five per cent from April 16 to May 15 as shown in figures compiled today by the bureau of labor statistics. During the year ending with May 15 they increased 29 per cent.

The biggest jump during the month was in flour, which advanced 29 per cent. The increase in corn meal was 15 per cent; beans 14 per cent; bread 13 per cent and rice 11 per cent. The only drop in price was in onions, 36 per cent, and butter 9 per cent.

Some of the month's increases are given as follows: Beef, two to four per cent; bacon, ham and lard, 8 to 10 per cent; hens, one per cent; salmon, ten per cent; eggs, 3 per cent; cheese, 3 per cent; milk, 3 per cent; potatoes, 6 per cent; sugar, 5 per cent; coffee and tea, 1 per cent.

The greatest advance during the year was made by potatoes, which advanced in price 149 per cent, and in flour, 102 per cent.

In the last four years retail food prices generally have advanced 56 per cent.

Preliminary estimates by the food administration today indicate that farmers received on an average price of $1.50 a bushel for their last year's wheat crop, against 98.4 per cent the year before, and 97 cents the year before that.

AMERICAN AVIATOR SHOT IN AIR DUEL, BUT ESCAPES DEATH

Paris, June 28.—Corporal James Norman Hall, American aviator and member of the LaFayette flying squadron, who has been reported killed in an encounter with German airplanes, has fortunately escaped death. Though he is badly wounded, there are hopes of his recovery.

Hall was flying over the German lines when attacked by a German biplane. After a hot encounter, seven other German machines came to the assistance of the biplane and in this unequal fight Hall was shot through the lungs. He managed, however, with great courage and coolness, to bring his machine down within the French lines. He fainted just before he landed, but had strength enough and presence of mind to cut off the gasoline and ease the landing so that the machine was not destroyed.

Hall was picked up and taken to the Soissons hospital where he now is under treatment. In addition to the wound in the lung, he received a bullet cut across the forehead, which is of an insignificant nature. The doctors are hopeful of his recovery and the military authorities are deeply interested, as Hall is considered one of the most daring members of the LaFayette squadron. He is a son of Mrs. A. W. Hall, of Colfax, Iowa.

SCOUT POTATO PICKERS CLAIM BAD TREATMENT

Richmond, Va., June 28.—Asserting that the truckers of the eastern shore of Virginia had not complied with their contract to properly care for the thousand Boy Scouts sent there from Richmond, Washington, Baltimore and other cities to dig potatoes, John Stewart Bryan, president of the Richmond council of Boy Scouts, this afternoon advised them to return to their homes. The boys had to provide their own meals and sleeping quarters and many of them were told they would have to wait until next week before being put to work. Hundreds of the boys declare they were badly treated.

The president of the Boy Scouts sought to induce the farmers to agree either to increase the rate of pay or to feed the scouts until picking of potatoes is resumed. Dr. E. W. Holland, recognized as spokesman for the farmers, said they could do nothing except pay the boys the stipulated sum for work actually performed.

Most of the boys will lose money. Expenses of the camps last week were slightly less than $1,500, whereas the earnings of the boys amounted to only about $496—a loss of about $1,000 on the week's work. The boys are not suffering.

The boys declared that they were badly treated, in that some of the farmers declared an embargo on the picking of potatoes for a week and wouldn't pay them or feed them during that time. The boys expected to be kept at work or cared for in such a way as not to cause them loss of money.

THREE ZIONIST GROUPS SECEDE AT CONVENTION

Baltimore, June 28.—Representatives of three Zionist societies in a constitutional convention called by the provisional executive committee for general Zionist affairs, seceded from the convention today.

While Justice Louis D. Brandeis, leader of American Zionism, watched from a box, the three groups arose and filed out. Later one of them, the Order of the Sons of Zion, headed by Josepf Barondess, commissioner of education in New York, came back, but announced that it would take no part in the legislation. The orders of Mizrachi, conservatives, and the Poals Zion, radicals, were the other secessionists.

The fight was based on resolutions calculated to provide an administration committee. Mr. Barondess wanted representatives for the Sons of Zion, but Secretary Louis Lipsky ruled that the Sons of Zion was not a separate entity, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, president of the provisional committee, sustained him.

Finally Secretary Lipsky moved that the proposition be laid on the table. Then came the other secessions. Rabbi Wise said:

"If these secessionists do not return, the orders which they represent will not sustain them. We have refused to tie the hands of the provisional committee or to say that certain groups shall have a certain place in Zionism. Zionism must come first and parties afterwards."

TWO MORE SUFFRAGISTS ARRESTED AT CAPITAL

Washington, June 28.—Two more women suffragists were arrested today when they entered the National museum to attend the unveiling of the Robert Emmett statue, which President Wilson attended. They carried with them a banner which they had not time to unfold. It read:

"Mr. President, why be a liberal abroad and a conservative at home? Why laud past struggles for freedom and suppress the struggle for freedom at your gates?"

The women were Iris Calgerhead, of Wichita, Kansas, and Elizabeth Stuvestant, of New York, formerly of Cincinnati. They were taken to police headquarters.

NO FURTHER REPORTS FROM PERSHING'S MEN

Some Time Must Elapse Before Americans Go to Trenches.

Washington, June 28.—Complete reports from Major General Pershing upon the landing of his first expedition in France were lacking tonight and the war department remained silent. The delay may be accounted for by the report that until today General Pershing did not personally visit the American encampment.

At the navy department reports are awaited from the commander of the convoy that accomplished without a marring incident so far as known, one of the greatest tasks ever assigned a naval force.

There was much discussion today as to when the American forces will take over a part of the great battle line in France. No official would admit having any knowledge on the subject.

In a general way, it is known that a considerable period must elapse before the troops can be thrown into the trenches. Vast problems of strategic campaigns, of political efforts to be sought and of supply and supply lines must be worked out. The men, fresh from the tropics or from the Mexican border, must be carefully acclimated.

Admittedly, the main purpose of sending the force in the brief period that was allowed to make ready and get them across, was political. It is understood to have been the sentimental rather than practical arguments advanced by members of the French and British commissions which influenced the Washington government to dispatch General Pershing and his men.

Representative Howard Introduces Bill Aimed At Suffragette Pickets

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, June 28.—Representative Howard of the Fifth Georgia district has introduced a bill aimed at the women suffragists who have been making themselves conspicuous and giving the Washington police much exercise by their picketing activities around the white house and the capitol.

The bill proposes to amend the act forbidding the exhibition of banners, placards, etc., around the capitol grounds, so as to make unlawful the display of any banner or flag "assigned or adapted to bring into public notice party or organization or movement therein" in or about any public building or on any street adjacent thereto.

Representative Adamson secured the passage in the house today of his bill to give a pensionable status to the surgeons of the public health service who may be assigned during the war emergency to the navy.

Women suffragists plan to continue demonstrations before the white house or places where President Wilson may visit, despite the arrest of 25 women and the jailing of six last week. Miss Alice Paul, head of the Woman's Party, announced today that the campaign would be continued and that hundreds of women had volunteered to come to Washington to help.

The police hold to their determination to arrest women attempting to display banners bearing printed appeals to the president on charges of obstructing the sidewalk or promoting disorderly gatherings. Emphasizing their attitude, they arrested today two more suffragists, Iris Calderhead, of Wichita, Kan., and Elizabeth Stuyvesant, of New York, who were trying to enter a hall where President Wilson was speaking to display suffrage banners.

STATUE OF ROBT. EMMET IN NATIONAL MUSEUM

Washington, June 28.—A bronze statue of Robert Emmet, Irish martyr patriot, was unveiled today in the rotunda of the National Museum here in the presence of a notable gathering. The memorial was presented to the government by American citizens of Irish descent.

The presentation speech was made by Judge Victor J. Dowling, of New York. Miss Alice O'Gorman, daughter of former Senator O'Gorman, of New York, pulled the cord that released the veil. Chief Justice White, of the supreme court, accepted the statue on behalf of the government.

ATLANTA BOY SERVING ON GROUNDED OLYMPIA

Porter Lumpkin House, an Atlanta boy, was one of the crew of the U. S. cruiser Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship at Manila, which ran aground in a fog off Block Island, R. I., Wednesday.

Young House is a son of Deputy Sheriff C. C. House, and has been in the naval service since last July. He is only 18 years of age, and is second fireman on the Olympia.

Deputy House said that although he had not heard from his son since the accident, he felt sure he was all right, as press reports gave the loss of only one life.

SECOND INSTALLMENT ON LIBERTY LOAN DUE

Washington, June 28.—The second payment of 18 per cent for subscribers to the Liberty Loan who bought bonds on the installment plan was due today. The next payment, of 20 per cent, is due July 30. No official estimate has been made of the payments on the bonds to date, but it is believed that approximately one-fourth has been paid in.

The engraved bonds probably will be ready next week.

CAMP AT GREENVILLE TO HAVE 2 REGIMENTS

Columbia, S. C., June 28.—That the two infantry regiments of the South Carolina national guard will be stationed at the proposed divisional camp at Greenville, S. C., is the announcement of Major C. E. Kilbourne, chief of staff to Major General Wood, commander of the southeastern department of the United States army. The first regiment, now stationed at Columbia, will proceed to Greenville as soon as the camp site there is ready and the second regiment when it is called into service next month.

U. S. LABOR MEN REFUSE PART IN CONFERENCE

Gompers Says Meeting Called by Stockholm Delegates Untimely and Premature.

Washington, June 28.—The American Federation of Labor has declined to participate in the international conference of trades unions called by the recent Stockholm conference to meet September 17 in Switzerland. President Gompers has telegraphed to President Lindquist, of the Stockholm conference, that the American federation regards all such conferences as premature and untimely "and can lead to no good purpose."

HEN AND EGGS GIVEN FOR RED CROSS WORK ARE SOLD FOR $2,002

Washington, June 28.—Red Cross officials today found their organization the owner of one herd of dairy cows, a fat Plymouth Rock hen and a dozen eggs, a dozen gold and silver medals of various kinds, much jewelry and quantities of merchandise—donations to the Red Cross war fund from persons who could not give money.

A Slav woman of Middletown, Ohio, donated the hen and eggs. The local campaign committee auctioned the eggs for $1,736, and the hen for $266. Both were returned to the buyers for resale and will be sent to headquarters here. Officials said they would be forwarded to New York for sale by auction in Wall street.

Cows, hogs, horses and other live stock have been given by farmers in a number of states. A negro woman in Youngstown, Ohio, had no money, but volunteered to do a day's washing. The work was given her and the pay turned over to the Red Cross fund. An Oklahoma boy gave his Airedale terrier.

Everything donated that cannot be used directly in relief work will be sold and the proceeds added to the $115,000,000 subscribed.

SENATE ORDERS REPORT ON PRINT PAPER STATUS

Washington, June 28.—The resolution of Senator Reed, of Missouri, calling upon the federal trade commission to inform the senate why it has not ordered news print paper manufacturers to desist from "illegal practices and exorbitant charges," was passed today by the senate without objection.

Further action by the department of justice for the federal trade commission, it was unofficially stated today, will be deferred pending the outcome of prosecution of manufacturers in New York indicted under the Sherman anti-trust law.

The trade commission today made public its answer to Senator Reed's resolution. It explained that while it has power to issue an order to desist, it has no power of prosecution or punishment, and members indicated that the entire matter is now up to the department of justice.

TALESMEN GRILLED BY EMMA GOLDMAN AND BY BERKMAN

New York, June 28.—Alexander Berkman, anarchist, was sharply rebuked by Judge Mayer in the United States district court here today when Berkman resumed the examination of talesmen for the jury that will hear the testimony in his trial and that of Emma Goldman on charges of conspiring to hamper the operations of the selective draft.

"I am not going to let you take interminable time to examine jurors," said Judge Mayer, after Berkman had propounded questions to which the prosecution objected, as it had yesterday. "I will not stand any more nonsense or any more delays. Let us have no more acting."

"Would you believe it to be a lawful change if we had in this country a revolution?" Berkman had asked one man.

"We are not going into the discussions of revolutions here," said the court in sustaining the objection of the prosecution.

"Were any of your fathers or grandfathers signers of the Declaration of Independence?" was the next question put by Berkman. There was a laugh.

Miss Goldman was then permitted to examine the talesmen. Her questions included:

"Would you be prejudiced against the defendants to know that Emma Goldman had devoted a large part of her life to the emancipation of women?"

"Do you believe in woman's equality with man?"

"Would you be prejudiced against Emma Goldman if it came out in the trial that she advocated birth control for the poor?"

Judge Mayer allowed the questions to stand as fair.

The courtroom was closely guarded by secret service agents and only persons with passes were permitted to enter. A large crowd gathered on the outside and one woman, who was said to be a follower of Miss Goldman, broke her umbrella over the head of a deputy United States marshal when she was refused admission.

FIXING WATER SUPPLY FOR HOLLY BLUFF CAMP

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Captain R. E. Adams, of General Wood's staff, left Macon today after spending several hours here in consultation with the Macon water board and members of the army training camp committee relative to the water supply for the camp to be located at Holly Bluff.

Captain Adams went over the figures on the cost of the work as prepared by a New York engineer and declared the estimates to be correct. The cost of the work is estimated at $175,000 and provides for the use of a 16-inch main and the enlargement of the reservoir at the camp. Captain Adams declared nothing smaller than a 16-inch main could be considered. It will require over five miles of the pipe.

SEVERAL ALTERATIONS IN VENIZELOS CABINET

Athens, June 28.—Several alterations have been made in the Venizelos cabinet. M. Negropontes assumes the finance portfolio instead of agriculture, as announced yesterday. M. Spirities is now minister of communications instead of M. Papanastasion, who becomes minister of national economy. The ministers of agriculture and refugees have not been appointed.

System in Buying Is the Solution of Saving

The goal of gain is reached through the channels of economy. Thrift is the sponsor of saving; buying for less is the ultimate resource. To make a practice of this pursuance, day by day—every day, in fact—is the system that succeeds. Buying can be made as systematic as any other domestic routine that depends upon a rule or a regulation for its best results. The housewife who will use the advertising in The Constitution as her daily systemizer in buying her needs, can keep up her practice of economy without appreciable retrenchment in quantity, or quality, or variety. The advertising pages of The Constitution are a daily record of merchandising news that points clearly and convincingly to the possibilities of saving money; and at the same time of getting standard values in food, clothing, drugs, utilities, furniture and the comforts that contribute to domestic felicity.

GOVERNMENT PLANS CONTROL OF WHEAT

No Speculation to Be Allowed, According to Information Given to Chicago Trade Board Head.

Chicago, June 28.—Government plans for food control, according to a statement given out here today by President Griffin, of the board of trade, include absolute control of the wheat trade in all its commercial aspects. There can be no speculation in it. Buying and selling of other grains for present or future delivery will be restricted.

Mr. Griffin's statement says in part:

"On Tuesday and Wednesday representatives of the grain exchanges were in conference at Washington with Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator, and others connected with the food administration.

"The exchanges have given their wholehearted support to the administration's plan for food control. Mr. Hoover and his associates have unfolded to us their plan.

"The plan will permit restricted competitive buying and selling of all commodities, for present and future delivery, with the exception of wheat. The United States government, through its food administration, will completely dominate distribution of wheat for domestic and export purposes. Not only will they purchase the wheat for this government, but for the allies and neutrals as well.

"The millers, likewise, will come under control of the food administration, and their wheat will be purchased and flour distributed under the same control. It must be apparent the operation of this plan will preclude possibility of trading in wheat for future delivery. However, commission merchants, receivers and others acting as agents in the purchase and sale of sample grain will be permitted to handle (sample) wheat on the same basis as all other commodities."

STATE CONTROL OVER LABOR AGENTS SOUGHT

House Bill Would Put Them Under the State Labor Department.

With a view to regulating the activities of employment and emigration agents which have made great inroads upon Georgia's farm labor during the last year, a bill was introduced in the senate Thursday for the purpose of placing such agents under the jurisdiction of the state department of commerce and labor.

The bill has the indorsement of Commissioner of Commerce and Labor Hal M. Stanley, and provides further for the collection of certain data and statistics and the dissemination of such information for the purpose of attracting settlers to Georgia.

The bill is as follows:

Colect Statistics.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, That the act approved August 18, 1913, amending the act creating the department of commerce of labor, approved August 21, 1911, be, and the same is, hereby amended by striking out section two of the said amended act and substituting an entirely new section as follows:

Sec. 2. Be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the commissioner, aided by his lawful assistants, shall collect and collate information and statistics concerning labor and its relation to capital, showing labor conditions throughout the state; the hours of labor; the earnings of laborers; and their educational, moral and financial condition, and the best means of promoting their mental, moral and material welfare; shall investigate the cause and extent of labor shortage and the migration of labor; shall also collect and collate information and statistics concerning the location, capacity of mills, factories, workshops and other industries, and actual output of manufactured products, and also character and amount of labor employed; the kind and quantity of raw material annually used by them, and the capital invested therein; and such other information and statistics concerning the natural resources of the state and the industrial welfare of the citizens as may be deemed necessary and of interest and benefit to the public, and by the dissemination of such data to advertise the various industrial and natural resources of Georgia in order to attract desirable settlers and to bring capital into the state. The department of commerce and labor is also charged with the following duties:

In conducting the division of labor the commissioner is herewith authorized and empowered to assist and act in concert with any person or persons, county organization, municipality or governmental agency, having for its purpose the distribution of labor in this state, not conducted for profit, and in every other way the commissioner is charged with the duty of endeavoring to be of assistance to both employer and employee, and of working in harmony with others having a like end in view, and for which no remuneration is received. For securing employment for those who wish employment and for securing labor for those who need help there shall be no charge whatever made or accepted, directly or indirectly, by any person connected with the department of commerce and labor. All officials of the state and the various counties of the state are herewith charged with the duty of lending such aid and assistance as may be called for by the commissioner.

Paragraph B. The officials of the department of commerce and labor are especially charged with the duty of assisting in the enforcement of the vagrancy laws of the state.

Said license to be renewed annually and the tax collected, said tax to be immediately turned into the state treasury by the commissioner. The commissioner shall require each agency to report to him once a month in writing, showing the names, addresses and number of persons for whom positions were secured, where secured, the kind of position, the pay of same, the amount of fee collected and the amount still to be collected. $180,000,000 SLASHED FROM U. S. COAL BILL do not apply to coal for export or for bunkers, and, of course, do not affect contracts or sales made before July 1.

Tribute to Operators.

As the conferences were closing, Secretary Lane paid a tribute to the operators for their manner of responding to the call upon them.

"This is a distinctly novel proceeding," he said. "You are pioneers in a good move. We look back with respect and admiration upon those who crossed the hard and stony and waterless places and picked out the richer spots beyond. I hope that you will be looked upon not only by those who succeeded you in the coal business, but by the industries of the United States with respect and admiration for the manner in which you have acted at this conference. You have responded to a call by the people of the United States. You are not a removed class. You are business men. You belong to the people. You have shown sympathy with the people and understanding of your relation to them. That is everything in a democracy.

"There is a strong contention made that this government cannot meet to the full the demands that are to be made upon it, not only in times of stress, but in fact in any time. It is contended that other governments are more competent and more efficient because there is a strong hand above the people, threatening, menacing, compelling. If we in the United States are to work out our problems, economic and social, as we have worked out our problem political, we must work it out, in my judgment, in the way in which you have worked out this problem.

"You have been up against an extremely odd situation and now you have acted here and met the situation in magnificent style. I think you have reason to be proud of what you have done. If all the industries of the United States will make the same effort there will be no question as to whether our people can mobilize our resources."

PERSHING IN RESIDENCE LEASED BY OGDEN MILLS

Paris, June 28.—Major General Pershing, the American commander, has left the hotel in which he has been staying since his arrival in Paris to make his home in a fine old residence in the Rue de Varenne as to be near his headquarters. The house, which has a magnificent garden, formerly belonged to Prince Gortchakoff. It was leased before the war by Ogden Mills, of New York, who placed it at the disposal of General Pershing. The American commander was asked today to comment on the article, "Why We Are Fighting," published yesterday in The Army Bulletin, in which General Petain, the French commander-in-chief, explained the objects of the war and why a premature peace must not be concluded. General Pershing said:

"I have read General Petain's article with deepest interest. His answer to the question is complete and logical. The facts set forth should convince the world of the justice of our great cause. I cannot think it possible that anyone should hold a different view of why we are in the war. It is quite beyond reason that any one knowing the truth should fail to condemn the course pursued by the German government, and the truth has been clearly pointed out by the distinguished commander-in-chief of the French army.

"There must be no peace except a lasting peace. The ideals for which the allies are contending must be held sacred. France will continue her splendid fight for human rights and human liberty, and fresh examples of heroism by her valiant armies will still further inspire those fighting by her side."

FORMER CONVICT PROVES HERO OF RUSSIAN ARMY

Petrograd, June 28.—The hero of the army in the woody Carpathians is a former convict from Siberia who inspired an attack by forces which heretofore had obdurately refused to charge. The ex-convict, whose rank is sergeant, led fifty volunteers in a rush on a German blindage.

The attacking party, confused by heavy fire, wavered, whereupon the sergeant alone climbed the breastwork and hurled a bomb among the enemy. Attacked by three Germans he sabered and shot two of them. Then, with only eighteen followers, several strongly held blindages were rushed. This produced general panic among the enemy and resulted in the capture of many prisoners. The sergeant was given an officer's commission, two regiments invited him to take command and the whole of his division resolved immediately to participate in an offensive.

ENGLAND TO INCREASE IMPORTS OF COTTON

London, June 28.—Cotton imports in recent weeks have fallen below the point necessary to meet the demands of all the mills and the stocks are consequently being depleted, said George Henry Roberts, parliamentary secretary to the board of trade, in replying to a question in the house of commons today. Steps were taken by the government to increase the imports of cotton as far as possible, added Mr. Roberts, and in the circumstances it had been thought advisable to set up a board of control.

Certain powers would be delegated to this board, under the defense of the realm act, Mr. Roberts announced, and it would be given control over the distribution and use of raw cotton.

MACON'S CITY GARDEN YIELDS TO DROUGHT

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Announcement was made today that Macon's municipal garden, which was planted at Central City park with a view to supplying the poor of the city with vegetables to can for use during the coming winter, has been destroyed as a result of the drought. Grain planted by the city for use of the city-owned stock is also badly damaged.

Lieut. Wilson in France.

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Georgians will be interested in knowing that Lieutenant Rogers Wilson, of the Eighteenth infantry, is with General Pershing's men in France.

Lieutenant Wilson is a Savannah man and is the husband of a Macon woman, formerly Miss Julia Goodwyn. Mrs. Wilson went to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to bid her husband good-by, and was there just three days before he received orders to depart for France.

NUMBERS TO DESIGNATE ALL ARMY REGIMENTS

National Guard's Numbers to Begin Where Those of Regulars End.

Washington, June 28.—Designation of all army regiments hereafter by number and service branch only, without distinction between units of the regulars, national guard and national army, has been decided on by the war department to simplify official records of the great war forces now being developed.

The regular regiments will retain their present names from the "first infantry," "first cavalry," etc., upward. The national guard regiments will be renamed, their numbers beginning where those of the regulars end, and the new units to be organized under the draft will take their numbers onward from the last of the guard regiments.

For the purpose of local identification, but not the official record, national guard and national army regiments will be permitted to use in parentheses after their names the names of the states from which they come. In cases of the national guard, the former name of the regiment may be used in full in parentheses, including both the name of the state and the former state number. Thus a national army regiment could be called the "two hundred and fifth infantry (Alabama)," or the "sixty-fifth field artillery (Tennessee)," while a national guard regiment might use the designation, "sixty-sixth infantry (First Georgia)," or "tenth engineers (Twenty-second Louisiana)." No parentheses would imply regulars.

Secretary Baker approved the plan on recommendation of Adjutant General McCain, indorsed by Major General Bliss, acting chief of staff.

PROHIBITION FIGHT DELAYS FOOD BILL

thought beer and wines should be permitted. Beer, he said, carries very little alcohol, and the closing of the breweries not only would stop the drinking of beer, but would deprive the country of $140,000,000 in revenue, throw over 100,000 men out of employment and lose all the taxes which come from the approximately $1,000,000,000 invested in the industry.

"I now come to the controlling factor in this mater," he continued, "a united public opinion is the greatest factor in winning the war. Abolish all the breweries at a stroke, throw 100,000 people out of employment and deprive the hundreds of thousands of laboring and other people who take their glass of beer and see no harm in it, and you will engender dissatisfaction and resentment."

Germany, Senator Lodge declared, has no restricted alcoholic beverages in any way, while France gives her soldiers regular wine rations. "And," he added, "I think nobody will dispute that the German and French soldiers are of good fighting quality. It is idle to say that the men who drink beer and light wines are undermined."

BILLION-DOLLAR WASTE IN BARN YARD REFUSE

Washington, June 28.—More than a billion dollars worth of barnyard refuse is wasted in the United States annually which at this time is a national tragedy, according to Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture, who, in a statement issued today, urges its conservation as a war measure to American farmers.

"The experts of our department have figured that at least half of the animal refuse, all of which is available for fertilizer, is lost to agriculture every year," said Mr. Vrooman. "At this time such a waste as this is a national tragedy. Here is a job for the American farmer which ought to challenge his pride and patriotism. It is not simply a colossal war measure. It is a measure which, if put into practice, will permanently benefit American agriculture."

CRUGER GIRL'S SLAYER HAS HORROR OF CHAIR

"I Feel Myself Acquitted Morally," Is Statement of Alfredo Cocchi.

Bologna, June 28.—"I feel myself acquitted morally, but I am ready to undergo the legal penalty of my country," Alfredo Cocchi, slayer of Ruth Cruger, is quoted as saying to the interrogating judge at the last questioning of the prisoner. Yesterday, however, Cocchi, according to reliable authority, sent out this message to a friend:

"I am guilty and I want to pay the penalty. Why spend your money on a lawyer. I won't see him."

There is no doubt in the mind of anybody here who is watching the case, that Cocchi has a horror of a sentence to death by the American electric chair. This abhorrence is shared by all his friends, and a fund has been started to fight extradition.

Meanwhile new efforts are being made to raise the question of his mental condition.

"I am not prepared to say whether Cocchi is insane or a nervous pervert," said Professor Augusto Murri, Itlay's famous nerve specialist, to the correspondent yesterday. "The prisoner now is physically in a bad condtion and mentally weak. Although he has spoken of suicide he hasn't the courage to commit it, or make a serious effort to escape."

An examination of Cocchi's record here indicates that before he left for America he was considered an unbalanced adventurer with anarchistic tendencies. He quit Italy for the United States after becoming a bankrupt in his native land.

Cocchi's trial is expected to take place in the Baciocchi palace.

Signor Venturini, attorney for Alfredo Cocchi, confessed slayer of Ruth Cruger, the New York girl, expressed to the Associated Press yesterday his indignation at not having been permitted to see the papers of the prisoner's confession. "I think," said the attorney, "that the examination of witnesses is taking a long time disproportionate to the slight evidence which can be provided by those who lived here so far from the scene of the tragedy.

"The judge promised me the papers in a few days. Only then will I know how the crime was really committed and what actually occurred in Cocchi's shop. What seems to be indisputable is that Cocchi, owing to Italian laws, cannot be extradited even if meanwhile he has become a naturalized American, since Italy still claims him as an Italian subject, having been called under the colors."

Signor Venturini twenty-five years ago was one of the most famous criminal lawyers in Italy. He is now 75 years old and exceedingly alert.

MORE CLUES FOUND BY MRS. HUMISTON.

New York, June 28.—The investigation by Commissioner of Accounts Wallstein into the methods employed by the police department to solve the mystery of the disappearance of Ruth Cruger, the high school girl who was murdered here last February, was continued today with Captain Alonzo Cooper, of the department, as one of the first witnesses. Commissioner Wallstein said he also expected to examine Detective Sergeants McGee and Dillon and Lieutenants Flannelly and Benoit today.

The movements of Alfredo Cocchi, the confessed murderer of the young woman, now under arrest in Italy, are to be traced for the week following the murder. It was said that the Rev. Gasper Moretto, who talked to Cocchi after the murder of the Cruger girl, might be recalled to the witness stand and questioned further about any revelations Cocchi may have made to him.

Early today it was said evidence of importance had been discovered by Mrs. Grace Humiston, whose efforts led to the finding of the murdered girl's body, which bear out her contention that Cocchi was a member of a white slave ring operating here and in Mexico. Mrs. Humiston, it was said, made a midnight search of a cellar of a house in West Twenty-seventh street, where papers and other evidence of importance were said to have been found. It was learned that the evidence tended to bear out the story of Miss Louise LaRue, who jumped from her window recently, when she said her life was threatened by men she accuses with being connected with the white slavers with whom Cocchi worked.

According to Commissioner Wallstein the police investigation has only begun. He declared that every angle of the activities, or inactivities, of the department would be gone into thoroughly until the responsibility for Cocchi's escape had been fully established. Already the testimony has shown that the records of the complaint book had been altered regarding the time the disappearance of the Cruger girl was reported to the police, and it was said this phase of the investigation would be gone into more fully today.

Proper Thing Now Is to Peel Off Soiled Skin

Those who abhor sticky, greasy, shiny, streaked complexions should religiously avoid creams, powders and rouges during the heated days. There's no need for them, anyway, since the virtues of mercolized wax have become known. No amount of perspiration will produce any evidence that you've been using the wax. As it is applied at bedtime and washed off in the morning, the complexion never looks like a make-up. Mercolized wax gradually takes off a bad complexion, instead of adding anything to make it worse. It has none of the disadvantages of cosmetics and accomplishes much more in keeping the complexion beautifully white, satiny and youthful. Just get an ounce of it at your druggist's and see what a few days' treatment will do. Use like cold cream.

Another effective warm weather treatment—heat tending to cause wrinkles and flabbiness—is a skin-tightener made by dissolving one ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. Its use (as a face bath) leaves no trace. Remarkable improvement is noticed immediately, and there is no harmful effect whatever.

MORE BONDS PLANNED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Issue of Half Billion Is Formally Proposed by Senator Stone.

Washington, June 28.—With revision of the war tax bill virtually completed and now totaling $1,449,000,000 against the $1,800,000,000 levy of increased taxes adopted by the house, the senate finance committee today considered authorization of additional bonds.

Senator Stone formally proposed a bond issue of $500,000,000. The committee plans to reach a decision tomorrow and to fix the rate to be imposed on war excess profits, probably 16 per cent. During lengthy committee discussion of the bond question a larger issue was not suggested, although with a half billion of bonds, Senator Simmons said the bill still would fall short $300,000,000 and probably more of meeting the ensuing year's war expenses.

From excess profits the committee now plans, under its latest estimates, to raise $300,000,000. An amendment adopted today would exempt from the tax upon individual persons.

"In office or employment, including that of a commercial traveler or agent whose remuneration consists wholly of a fixed and definite sum, irrespective of the amount of business done, or any other contingency; and a person, the profits of which depend mainly on the personal qualifications of the individual . . . and in which there is not required the investment of more than nominal capital."

Manufacturers and their representatives generally are opposing repeal proposed by the committee, of the drawback by which they recover from the government practically all duties paid on materials which enter into manufactured products which later are exports. In such cases the government retains one per cent of the duty paid as an administration charge.

WOMEN WAITRESSES EMPLOYED IN PLACE OF GREEK WAITERS

The management of the Eagle cafe faced the war-employment problem earlier than it expected. When a strike was called Wednesday night among the cooks and waiters, the manager found the remedy by hiring weeks earlier than anticipated the women waitresses he proposed to employ if the draft took any of his help.

Last night they were smiling behind platters of wheat cakes, while nine jobless waiters who walked out together with the chef took steps to organize a union.

The strike was called because of long hours, say the strikers, while the Eagle management charges his help walked out because he insisted on certain house rules pertaining to service.

Prominent Women to Head Canvassers for Red Cross In Big Campaign Saturday

Women of Atlanta are determined to make of Saturday, their own Red Cross day, a date long to be remembered on the calendar of events by raising from among their own sex and from men and children, too, thousands of dollars that otherwise might not have found their way into the coffers of the Red Cross.

Mrs. George Forrester, Mrs. James L. Dickey, Jr., and Mrs. H. P. Hermance, chairmen of Woman's Red Cross day, have addressed to the women of the city a call to arms, arousing them to the importance of this work.

This morning the women will open headquarters, to maintain them today and through tomorrow, at 33 North Forsyth street, in the Grant building. There Mrs. George Forrester and Mrs. Preston S. Arkwright will be on duty, instructing volunteers for Saturday's campaign forces, receiving contributions and arranging generally all the details of the big drive.

Chairmen to Be Named.

Stations have been designated throughout the downtown section of Atlanta and in community centers in other parts of the city, as well as in College Park and East Point and other neighboring communities. At each of these a chairman has been named or will be named today from among the more prominent of the women leaders. To each of these chairmen will be assigned a team of workers of half a dozen or more young ladies.

Contributions of Tag day size, running from nickels up to dollars will be received gratefully, the ladies say, but they are emphasizing that they expect many dollars and many five and ten and twenty-dollar bills to be exchanged Saturday for the little Red Crosses that are to be distributed. The women in charge of the work declare they are intent upon stressing that their campaign Saturday is not for casual change, but for real donations; donations of the proportions of sacrifices, worthy to be used as true Red Cross tribute.

A parade Saturday morning of 100 automobiles and the Fifth infantry, National Guard of Georgia, will pass from the governor's mansion down Peachtree and Whitehall to Mitchell street, and thence will turn back along Broad and Marietta to Five Points, where the flag will be saluted and the parade disbanded. This will serve to call attention to the day and its purposes. Throughout the remainder of Saturday a continuous concert of military music will be rendered at the flagpole in Five Points.

The parade will start at 10 o'clock. Miss Adrienne Battey, costumed to represent "Columbia," will be in the leading car, and all the following automobiles will be filled with young ladies in Red Cross uniforms.

HIS AUTO DAMAGED IN THREE ACCIDENTS WITHIN 24 HOURS

Three accidents in twenty-four hours—one brought about by what he believed to be "an invisible force"—have led Richard "Dick" Dunwody, salesman for the H. W. Johns-Manville company, 31 South Broad street, to put great faith in the old adage that accidents come in threes.

Here is the hard-luck tale as recited by Mr. Dunwody and substantiated by his friends:

Late Wednesday night he was out riding with friends. On a narrow country road he backed into a ditch, damaging his car slightly, and being compelled to walk in to a street car, riding on it to the city, and getting another car to go out and pull him out. He got home rather late as a result and lost much sleep.

Riding down to work Thursday morning at the corner of Broad and Alabama streets a truck loaded with farm products plunged into his car, damaging the fender and lights. He put his car in the repair shop and by afternoon had it back, mended whole again.

Last night, while sitting on the front porch of friends on Porter place, he saw his car, parked out in front, begin slowly to glide down the slight incline on this street towards West Peachtree street. Before he could get into the street to tighten the emergency brakes, which had suddenly loosened, his car had plunged into an outgoing Peachtree street car at Porter place. Damage was done to the rear fender this time, and Mr. Dunwody will again send his car to the repair shop this morning.

"I guess I'm through for the present with accidents," he said. "The old adage is that accidents come three at a time. I had two of them unavoidably, and an 'invisible hand' seemed to reach out and bring about the third one."

Equal Suffrage Danger Proved by Popularity Of Mrs. Louise Marsh

Among all the hands that have been shaken upon renewal of past and pleasant acquaintanceship since the new legislature has convened, the fair hand of Mrs. Louise Bigby Marsh, official stenographer to the senate, holds the record for being most often, most cordially and most lingeringly shaken.

The continual line of distinguished solons which has filed past her desk at the senate chamber has assumed the proportions of almost a state affair, and the new evidences of the universality of her popularity offer the final and invincible "why" aspiring favorite sons are opposed to the idea of political competition from the female of the species.

Mrs. Marsh's coming-out gown for the opening of the legislature—which always is such a creation as commands of all men an instant and instinctive sense of the presence of danger—is this year of a potency beyond words, from the peach-blossom hat to the high-heeled shoes, via the sea-foam shirtwaist.

NEW RULES ADOPTED BY LIVERPOOL COTTON MEN

London, June 28.—The board of trade has issued an order under the defense of the realm act forbidding, except under license, any purchase or sale of raw cotton.

The Liverpool Cotton association today adopted its new rules regulating trading in futures, which henceforth is to be confined to buying by spinners or importers against sales of actual cotton. "Straddles" or speculative dealings are forbidden.

The prices of futures will be advanced or reduced from time to time by the committee on the basis of prices prevailing in the southern states of the United States for American futures and in Alexandria for Egyptian futures.

Girl and Father's Remarkable Recovery

Mr. Otto Alabaugh, R. R. 1, West Union, Ill., says: "I was in very bad health. I doctored with two doctors and received no benefit. They told me I had asthma and bronchitis. I could not sleep good and had no appetite, and was so run down I could not do anything. I lost in flesh, got down to 120, and my normal weight is 145. So a friend asked me to try Nature's Creation. I purchased two bottles, but before I had taken one bottle I could sleep good and had a good appetite, and can truly say I can do any work I want to do. I have gained in weight, back to my normal weight, and certainly feel fine. My little daughter, five years old, has also never been well. She always complained of her limbs and head hurting, but since she began taking Nature's Creation she does not complain and has gained 10 pounds in weight since taking Nature's Creation. We cannot praise the medicine too much and we certainly will recommend it to all suffering as we did." Write or call for FREE BOOKLET. No obligation. Examination free. Nature's Creation, 308 Cent. BRITISH COTTON TRADE CONCERNED OVER PRICES

Liverpool Attributes Rise to Absence of Hedge and Speculative Selling.

Manchester, June 15.—(By Mail.)—The extraordinary rise in cotton prices during the last few days has caused serious concern throughout the cotton trade. Liverpool attributes the rise to the tied-up condition of the contract market owing to the absence of "hedge" and speculative selling (the latter being prohibited) plus free buying of futures and price-fixing of call cotton by home-consuming interests, and, of course, the big rise in America. Manchester and trade buying orders have largely contributed to the spectacular upward movement.

"I must confess to a feeling of intense disappointment that what I have advocated for so many years, namely, that those engaged in the cotton industry—the greatest textile industry in the world—should try to regulate their own affairs and meet crises as they arise has not been acted upon. Notwithstanding the difficulites the trade has always succeeded in its efforts in this direction in the past. As regard both employers and operatives, it has been noted for self-reliance and resource in the face of physical difficulties and by the exercise of these qualities the trouble has been surmounted. This, indeed, is all that is necessary now.

"I have always contended that what was so successfully accomplished in 1904 when employers and operatives come together and decide to co-operate and face the then existing crisis which would otherwise have had disastrous results, could be repeated in 1917. It appears to me that if the thing is taken in hand energetically and at once the intervention of the government which otherwise seems inevitable would be prevented. If the government intervenes employers will have to act at their dictation.

"At the present time there are many mills that would gladly close down and work on a forty-hour week or half time, but there will always be a certain number who would take advantage of a movement to safeguard the interests of the industry as a whole.

"If the crisis is to be overcome successfully there must be no exemptions. All mills must run on the same basis, and if the operatives' organizations, as well as that of the employers, will act loyally together, the thing can be done."

Investigation of High Cost Of Food and Fuel Is Asked In Resolution by Andrews

Senator Wants Sweeping Probe of Alleged Combines and "Other Fictitious Devices" in Georgia for Hoarding Foods, Feedstuffs and Fuel.

HOLDER NAMED SPEAKER IN CLOSE RACE THURSDAY

Until More Than Half the House Had Voted He Was Running Neck and Neck With Representative Culpepper—Bismarck Moore, of Atlanta, Elected Clerk.

The first measure introduced in the present session of the general assembly was a joint resolution offered in the senate yesterday morning by Senator Walter P. Andrews, of the Thirty-fifth, calling for a sweeping investigation into alleged combines "and other fictitious devices" in Georgia for hoarding food and feedstuffs and fuels for the purpose of limiting the supply of the necessaries of life and bringing about higher prices.

The resolution declares that it is generally believed that such methods are being resorted to in Georgia, thus enhancing the cost of living which "has increased already to a point beyond endurance."

In view of these conditions, the resolution not only indorses the plan of President Wilson to conserve and control the food resources of the United States and offers the co-operation of the state in this plan, but calls for the creation of a special investigating committee of the legislature to conduct a thorough investigation in Georgia on its own account.

Committee Given Ample Power.

The committee is to be composed of three members from the senate and five from the house, empowered with authority to compel the presence of witnesses and the testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence, and is amply financed for the work outlined for it. The resolution asks that the committee begin work at once and report to the legislature the result of its investigations within twenty days after its creation.

Also among the first measures introduced was a resolution by Senator Wohlwender of the Twenty-fourth, asking an investigation into the enormous expenditures of money upon soft drinks and automobiles and gasoline for pleasure, and asking that a tax be placed upon these and other businesses conducted and materials sold for pleasure.

These, with the introduction of a dozen or more other measures, constituted the principal work of the senate at its Thursday session.

Meanwhile the house brought to a close the most spirited fight for the speakership in its history by the election of Representative John N. Holder, of Jackson county, over Representative Nathan Culpepper, of Meriwether, Representative William H. Burwell, of Hancock, having withdrawn from the race Wednesday night.

E. Bismarck Moore, of Atlanta, was elected clerk of the house over J. B. Jackson, of Jones county.

Holder Wins Race.

In winning the race for speaker over Mr. Culpepper by 27 votes, Mr. Holder fulfilled his prediction of Wednesday night that he would receive more than 100 votes.

Then there followed another deadlock over the selection of seats, which for a time assumed serious proportions.

When the house convened at 10 o'clock William H. Burwell, of Sparta, briefly addressed the members, saying that in retiring fro the race he did so without ill feeling to any man, with a deep sense of appreciation to the friends who had supported him and, in extending the cordial and warm hand of friendship to every member of the house, he hoped he would feel that same warmth of friendship in a returned grasp. To the house, he said, he had to offer the very best of service he is capable of and a readiness and willingness to perform whatever service is given him.

A Neck and Neck Ballot.

On the roll call the balloting for Holder and Culpepper left the result not only in doubt beyond half way the list of members, but the two candidates were never up to that time more than a couple or three votes apart. When the last third of the list was turned into, however, Holder began to pick up rapidly, and the 95th and deciding vote was cast by Dr. White, of Fulton. Despite that fact, though, Culpepper ran his total from 73, when Holder stood 94, to 78 at the end of the roll call, the last vote cast being for Culpepper, after Holder had gone to 105.

Clerk Moore appointed a committee, composed of Messrs. DuBose, Wright and Akin, to escort the speaker to the chair.

Mr. Holder said he is grateful for the honor conferred, which he prizes more than anything in his life, and that it shall be his constant endeavor to make the best speaker the house has ever had.

He said that in the contest for the speakership he appreciated the fact that those gentlemen who opposed him had the right to do so and those who supported the opposition had the same right and that toward them he bore only the warmest feelings of friendship.

The Clerk Elected.

The election of a clerk was passed over quickly, Representative Beazley, of Taliaferro nominating E. B. Moore, who was seconded by about ten members, and Hon. Joe Hill Hall nominating J. B. Jackson, who was liberally seconded. The vote stood, Moore 121, Jackson 45. Following the vote the speaker appointed Messrs. Pickett, Swift and Morris a committee to bring in the new clerk.

A message from the senate announced adoption of a resolution, asking house concurrence, for the appointment of a committee of five to notify the governor that the legislature was organized and ready for business. The senate members named were Messrs. Hopkins and DeJarnette. Speaker Holder appointed Messrs. Hall, Pace and Jones, of Coweta.

The house adopted a joint resolution, asking senate concurrence, fixing the joint session for canvassing the state vote at 11 o'clock Friday morning.

A letter to Representative DuBose, of Clarke, was read, extending an invitation to the legislature to be the guest of the city of Athens, July 4, and was accompanied by a resolution which will come up for action in its order.

Augusta Girl Honored.

Quite an unusual incident in legislative organization grows out of the resolution offered by Representative Burwell, under which Mrs. Josephine McDonald has been designated assistant messenger of the house with the same remuneration as the messenger, is accorded the privileges of the floor, and was accorded the privilege of selecting seats among the members for herself and her husband, Representative Walter R. McDonald, of Augusta, who is blind. Mrs. McDonald is the first woman ever to be recorded in the official records of the state as having been made an official of the Georgia house of representatives or to have been given a seat on its floor.

Confederate veterans, under a resolution by Neill, of Muscogee, were permitted to select their seats without drawing for them, following which Anderson, of Jenkins, had the same privilege conferred on Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, former member of the supreme court, and by amendment Hon. Joe Hill Hall, of Macon, was included in the same motion. On motion of Stewart, of Coffee, similar privilege was accorded Messrs. Burwell and Culpepper, and on motion of Pickett, of Terrell, upon Garland M. Jones.

On request of Burwell, of Hancock, he was permitted to draw the seat of J. N. Rainey, who is absent on account of the critical illness of his mother.

Morton Turner, of Brooks, a former candidate for speaker of the house, was also extended the privilege of selecting his seat. When the clerk made this announcement, Mr. Brooks arose and said that he did not wish to be shown preference—that he was willing to take his seat along with other members of the house.

Committee on Inauguration.

The joint resolution by McCrory, of Schley, to appoint a committee of five from the house and three from the senate, was passed and sent immediately to the senate, the committee to arrange a joint session and the details of the inauguration of Governor-elect Dorsey. The senate members are Andrews and Elders; the house members Akin, Sibley, McCall, DuBose and Brinson.

With the preparation of drawing for seats came a wild scramble. The hall was cleared of all save those who were permitted by resolution or motion to select their seats at will and the call of counties began. Not half a dozen counties had been called when the members on the outside forced the doorkeepers aside and rushed the hall. Speaker Holder made an especial plea that those members whose counties had not been called vacate, but his request was not complied with. Men who had taken seats in preferred positions during the rush simply sat tight. Dozens of motions came one after the other, with all kinds of amendments and substitutes and for more than an hour the effort to get the house cleared and proceed with the drawing was futile.

Though the house had extended the session to cover the election of all officers necessary to organization before adjournment, at 12:45, the drawing of the seats was still in a turmoil.

The clerk read a message from Governor Nat E. Harris, requesting that both houses be convened in joint session today at noon to hear his message.

The first resolution, other than those having to do with the organization, which has so far come into the house was that by Trox Bankston, of West Point, reciting the stress of the times and the need for economy, and calling upon both the house and the senate to come to an agreement, by joint resolution, to adjourn sine die July 21 at noon. It will come up in its regular order upon the calendar, and the prevailing opinion is that it will be killed promptly.

When the drawing of seats had finally been solved and completed the completion of house organization was taken up and resulted in the following elections: Doorkeeper, W. I. Morris, of Elbert, re-elected; Messenger, D. J. Paulk, of Ben Hill; speaker pro tem, J. A. Beazley, of Taliaferro.

The joint resolution introduced by Senator Andrews in the senate, calling for an investigation into the causes of high prices of the necessaries of life in Georgia, is as follows:

"Whereas, it is generally believed by the people of Georgia that there is prevalent in this state a practice of storing, holding and boarding foods, foodstuffs, food products, fuels and other necessaries of life and that combinations and other fictitious devices are resorted to for the purpose of limiting supplies of such necessaries, in order to enhance the cost thereof to consumers and fill the coffers of speculators with profits, that are unjust, unreasonable and intolerable; and,

"Whereas, the cost of living has increased already to a point beyond endurance, when actual necessities for the bare necessities of life is widespread among our people, with the prospects that conditions will grow worse, tending inevitably to an intolerable state of affairs, that must bear with special grievousness upon wage earners, salaried classes, and the poor in our midst, whose incomes have fallen far short of keeping pace with the constant climb of the necessaries of life; therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the senate, the house concurring, That we heartily commend and indorse the plan of the president of the United States to conserve and control the food and fuel of the country during the period of the present great war, as we believe complete relief is possible only through the strong hand of the nation raised against the speculators and gamblers and in behalf of the people of our country;

"Resolved, further, That we lend our state aid and co-operation to the national effort by the appointment of a joint committee of three from the senate and five from the house to make diligent inquiry and thorough investigation into the causes of said increases in the cost of food, fuel and other necessaries of life, as well as the reasonable or excessiveness of the profits wrung from the public upon their enforced consumption of such necessaries, as well as the relation thereto of the transportation problem with its many ramifications;

"Resolved, further, That said joint committee meet as soon as possible after appointment and effect its own organization. Said committee is authorized to employ a stenographer and to pay reasonable compensation for stenographic service;

"Resolved, further, That said committee shall have power to compel the presence and testimony of witnesses by supoena, to administer the usual oath to witnesses, and to compel by supoena duces tecum the production of such written or printed matter, files, documents, books, letters, contracts or other records whatsoever that they may deem relevant to said investigation;

"Resolved, further, That said committee is hereby fully empowered to do all other and further things, necessary and proper to the performance of the duties herein specified, and shall report to the general assembly their findings and recommendations within twenty days from the date of the appointment thereof."

Senator Wohlwender's Bill.

The following is the resolution of Senator Wohlwender, calling for an investigation into the moneys spent upon pleasure and calling for taxes on soft drinks, automobiles and gasoline used in pleasure:

"Whereas, by the annual report of Hon. William A. Wright, comptroller general of the state of Georgia, for 1917, shows there is a deficiency in the revenue of the state of nearly $500,000; and

"Whereas, by examination of said report, it will be seen that for the coming year there will not only be a deficiency of this amount, but a still greater amount, due to the failure to collect certain revenues heretofore allowed which we are now prohibited by law; and

"Whereas, the United States is now involved in one of the greatest wars the world has ever known; and

"Whereas, the people of Georgia are not only giving the youth of their state to this country and its interests, but are also giving thousands of dollars to the worthy cause of the Red Cross, and are buying by the millions of dollars the Liberty Bonds of the United States in order that this war may be successfully carried on; and

"Whereas, the cost of the necessaries of life as well as other foodstuffs has reached a price almost inconceivable, and many of its citizens are hardly able to feed their families with the present wages and salaries; and

"Whereas, the revenues of the state are obtained by a tax upon tangible property of the masses, and the taxable assets of the people of the state are taxed to their constitutional limit and the people cannot stand for an increased; and

"Whereas, much revenue heretofore obtained upon money, notes and other obligations will be converted into bonds which are not taxable by the state. Be it therefore

"Resolved, by the state, the house concurring, That it is the sense of this legislature:

"(a) That the officials of all public institutions of the state curtail expenses to their minimum and ask for only such appropriations as are absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the same.

"(b) That the appropriations committees of the senate and the house only make such appropriations as are absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the public institutions of the state and the government of said state, and there be no increases in any appropriations, but that the same be decreased when it can possibly be done.

Tax on Soft Drinks and Autos.

"(c) That the ways and means committees of the senate and house investigate the useless consumption of thousands of barrels of sugar in the making and manufacturing of soft drinks, and the useless expenditure of millions of dollars yearly in the buying of soft drinks, which are detrimental to the health of the consumers, and are being sold to children, when said money could be converted to a better purpose; likewise an unnecessary expenditure of money for automobiles and gasoline used for pleasure riding; that committee seek a way to raise revenue for the state either by an additional tax upon the syrups of soft drinks, or upon the retailers of said drinks, either or both; also upon the retailers of automobiles and of gasoline, where the same is used for pleasure; it being the purpose and intention of this legislature, as far as possible, to derive the revenues of the state from drinks sold, business conducted and materials sold for pleasure and luxuries and not from the necessities of life.

"(d) That no member of this senate or of the house be permitted to vote upon any bill or bills where he is interested in the defeat of the same by reason of being a stockholder in any manufacturing plant manufacturing soft drinks sought to be taxed, or is employed as counsel by any such manufacturing plant, or has or is accepting hospitality and entertainment by any stockholder, counsel or lobbyist of any such manufacturing for the sole purpose of getting said member to defeat any such bill or bills."

INHERITANCE TAXES LOST TO THE STATE

ty, the most populous and wealthy, I find that all estates are being assessed arbitrarily on a basis of 46 per cent of the value. This percentage is arrived at by figuring the inheritance tax according to the system peculiar to this county in figuring ordinary state property taxes and is openly and frankly defended as just. The state has no abler nor more conscientious officials than Fulton's, but that they are mistaken in judgment is shown by the wording of the law which provides that all estates shall be assessed at 'their actual or market value.' It is manifestly unfair that estates in Oglethorpe, Muscogee and other counties should be assessed at full market value, while estates in some of the city counties are assessed at less than half value. This condition should be corrected, as many thousands of dollars annual income to the state are involved.

Situation in Fulton.

"5. While in Fulton the taxes are being collected upon a system which, in my judgment, does not measure up to the law, in Bibb county I am advised that there is no system at all. As to the integrity and good faith of the Bibb county officials the same could be said of them as was said of the Fulton officials, yet frankness forces me to say that there seems to be no business-like checking even of estates actually administered. Estates by the dozen have escaped taxation. Some of the leading lawyers have been administrators or executors of some of these defaulting estates. It is amazing to note the number of estates liable to the 5 per cent tax which have not been returned or assessed. Some of these estates have been transferred to persons in no way related to the deceased. The state has been deprived of tax upon $500 each upon practically every estate assessed through a mistaken conception of the law itself, and exemption called 'legal exemption' being allowed over and above the exemption actually provided by the law.

"6. It will probably not be profitable to extend this report further. My files and correspondence are subject to inspection if further detailed information is desired. Most unfortunate lack of system and uniformity characterizes the administration of this tax law in practically all of the counties. I haven't the slightest doubt that vigorous and efficient representation of the state's interests during the past four years would have netted the state an income from taxable values from $5,000,000 to $7,500,000. Likewise, I believe that such representation together with explanation of the terms of the law and even publicity as to the very existence of the law will almost, if not quite, double the state's income from this tax in the near future.

Changes Are Needed.

"7. The able and honored author of Georgia's inheritance tax law reminds me that no great constructive legislation was ever perfected in one bill or in one year's time, indeed, as was probably true in this case, it is often found that constructive legislation can only be passed in incomplete form. Under the present law it is quite questionable if the state is not barred from a remedy or right of appeal after the filing of the certificate of the ordinary, however incomplete may be the inventory furnished him or however misleading his information as to values. This being true, pending amendments by the legislature, it has proved profitable to have the state represented in the checking of inventories and the fixing of values. For such services fair and equitable compensation, based upon services actually rendered the state, has been allowed. I have conferred with the author of the bill who fortunately is a prominent member of the present legislature and amendments will be proposed strengthening the bill, clearing up such of its provisions as may be uncertain and providing for better system and greater uniformity in the payment and collection of the taxes.

"This is a claim amounting to $582.27, covering a deposit made by the state in the insolvent bank stated. Being a national bank, the laws as to liens upon state banks do not apply. There is a personal bond to the state, signed by the directors. These directors and bondsmen were seriously embarrassed financially by the failure of the bank. Able and conscientious local counsel advised that filing suit on the bond would endanger the collection of the claim by probably forcing the bondsmen into bankruptcy. Other leading lawyers familiar with the facts confirm this opinion. Thirty-five per cent of the claim has been collected and I am advised that further dividends will be paid this fall, absolutely assuring the collection of the full amount due the state.

Citizens Banking Company.

"This is a claim amounting to $354.56, deposited in the bank stated, now in the hands of a receiver. Many and serious complications arose. Practically all the tangible assets of the bank were physically seized by one of its creditors under a claim of right and removal from the bank and out of the county and judicial circuit. The banking house was left intact but on this there was a first and second mortgage covering almost, if not quite all of its market value. It appeared wisest, as is usual in such cases, to procure an agreement guaranteeing the payment in full of the state's claim without expense of litigations. For a time prospects for such settlement appeared good. Only within the past few days has an adjustment seemed hopeless. Accordingly suit has been filed and every possible effort will be made to recover through the courts.

"Respectfully submitted,
"CLIFFORD WALKER,
"Attorney General.

JAMES R. GRAY RESTS IN OAKLAND CEMETERY

Brief But Impressive Funeral Services Conducted at the Residence Thursday.

The funeral of James R. Gray, president and editor of The Atlanta Journal, was held yesterday morning at "Greystone," the old family residence on Peachtree road, and the body was laid to rest in Oakland cemetery.

Friends by the hundreds and even visitors who had traveled far to evidence their love were gathered under the oak trees on the lawn of the residence, and every employee of The Journal was present at the exercises.

The services began with a hymn sung by Mrs. Frank M. Pearson, followed by an inspiring prayer by Dr. Dunbar H. Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church. Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, pastor of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, then read several verses of scripture, beginning with the compassionate words of Jesus: "Let not your hearts be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me," and closing with the twenty-third Psalm.

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe university, offered a final benediction and the services ended with Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar," sung by Mrs. Pearson.

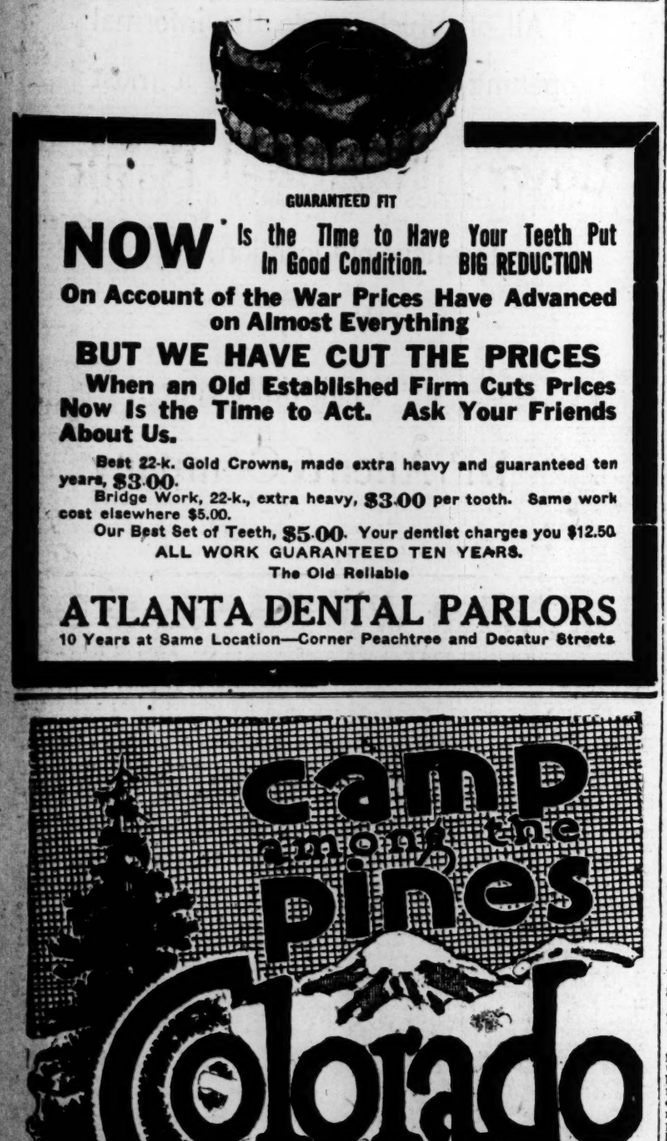

Only the members of the family and his most intimate friends accompanied the body of Mr. Gray to the cemetery.

The pallbearers were: J. D. Jernigan, B. F. Bennett, R. L. Bradley, W. S. Wier, James L. Turner, W. I. Calloway, Julian Manasse and Park H. Hall.

WIFE WILL NOT FIGHT O. N. EVERETT'S SUIT

Oscar N. Everett, husband of Mrs. Helene Spencer Everett, is now at liberty to pursue the uneven tenor of his divorce suit, for all Mrs. Everett cares, for she has voluntarily withdrawn her cross-bill and answer to Everett's petition for divorce. She algo dismissed the suit which she had instituted against F. C. Everett, brother of her husband, claiming $25,000 as compensation for the alleged alienation of her husband's affections.

Mrs. Everett was formerly of Boston. Everett alleged in his petition for divorce that she "doped" him and married him when he didn't know what he was doing. The proceedings of Mrs. Everett were dismissed by Judge Pendleton on formal motion by Attorney Horace Russell, her counsel.

Inman Park Girls' Club to Give Dance for Red Cross

The friends of this organization are cordially invited. Tickets will be fifty cents and the entire proceeds will be devoted to the Red Cross fund.

This splendid little organization of Atlanta young ladies never fails to do its part when some good work is to be accomplished.

A committee from the Girls' club has been invited by the Atlanta Steel company to come to their plant on Saturday afternoon and solicit. It is safe to say that they will have a good report to make.

It is hoped that a goodly crowd will attend the dance at East Lake and help the girls to turn over to the "Women's day" campaign a tidy sum.

Garden Party.

The garden party to be given on Saturday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Connally, 53 Ashby street, at 4:30 o'clock, will doubtless be one of the most enjoyable al fresco affairs of the season.

One very attractive feature will be the interpretative dancing on the lawn by two charming young girls—Miss Margaret Vaughan and Miss Sara Waggstaff. The program will include several other attractions which will add to the enjoyment of the occasion, which is given under the auspices of the Uncle Remus Memorial association.

Capital City Country Club.

The Capital City Country club announces a concert Sunday evening from 6:30 to 8:30 on the terrace. Dinner will be served at 6:30 and members are urged to make their reservations as soon as possible.

The occasion will be made one of the happiest events of the social week-end.

Catholic Red Cross Workers

The Catholic Women's Red Cross auxiliary will meet in their work room today from 9:30 until 5 o'clock, in the parish hall of Sacred Heart church. The junior branch of the auxiliary is being formed, time and place of meeting to be announced later. All are invited to join.

Featherston-Shields.

A beautiful event of Thursday evening was the wedding of Miss Laura Featherston and Rev. Harold McQueen Shields, of Townsville, N. C., which took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Featherston, on North Boulevard, at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. M. McG. Shields, father of the groom, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Samuel Wilds DuBose, uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Joseph Harlan Gilmore, of Galatin, Tenn., and Mrs. Robert Barry Tufts, sisters of the bride, were the matrons of honor, and Miss Katherine Shields, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. Mr. Ernest Shields was his brother's best man. The ribbon girls were little Misses Frances Tufts, Linda Jernigan, Clara Morrison and Marion Doom. Little Miss Barry Tufts was the flower girl and Master Remington West McConnell was ring bearer.

The wedding party entered the drawing room through an aisle formed of pink tulle caught with pink sweetpeas.

The bride made a beautiful picture as she entered with her father, in her wedding gown of white tulle over a foundation of white satin. A dainty design in seed pearls was embroidered on the bodice. The skirt was finished with a band of beaded lace and pleated chiffon. The court train hung from the shoulders and her tulle veil was held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

Mrs. Gilmore wore her wedding gown of white crepe meteor hand embroidered in sprays of roses and seed pearls draped with tulle. She carried pink roses.

Mrs. Tufts wore a gown of pinia cloth over flesh-colored taffeta and lace and carried pink roses.

The bridesmaid wore a girlish costume of pink Georgette crepe over pink taffeta, with silver lace bands and each carried a hat basket filled with pink roses.

The little ribbon girls and flower girl wore dainty frocks of white embroidered organdie with pink ribbons. The little ring bearer wore a white linen suit and carried the ring in an Easter lily.

Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mr. R. J. Guinn.

In the drawing room an artistic grouping of palms, ferns and clusters of Easter lilies formed an improvised altar. On either side of the altar brass candelabra held white candles. The house was artistically decorated with palms, ferns and flowers. Punch was served on the porch, which was attractive with potted plants and hanging baskets.

Just before the ceremony Miss Mildred Parks sang "All for You."

Large Audience Is Stirred By Gladys Hanson's Reading

The classic beauty of Gladys Hanson seemed illumined by the spirit of the heroic Soldier-Maiden of France when she read yesterday, for the benefit of the Red Cross, "The Awakening of Joan of Arc."

The spacious home of Mrs. William D. Grant on Peachtree street was crowded for the occasion and many people stood through an hour's beautiful program.

Gladys Hanson, one of the most distinguished figures on the American stage, had interrupted her vacation at home with her family to do this patriotic service, and her reading of two of the most famous poems inspired by the war, these followed by a climax of impressiveness in a recitation of "The Star Spangled Banner," was a rare and exquisite expression of patriotism through the medium of art.

"The Awakening of Joan of Arc" is a poem which is anonymous and pictures the Maid of Orleans aroused from her long sleep to lament the plight of her beloved France, and then to pledge her unseen leadership to victory.

Its depth of feeling and poesy of thought became, through the medium of Miss Hanson's vibrant voice and sympathy, a live appeal, and her "Help France" in the dramatic poem of "Verdun—You Shall Not Pass," held all the moving force of tragedy uncomplaining.

"The Star Spangled Banner," as she read it, took on its rightful aspect, to deserve no careless handling. More than a poem she proved it, but properly, a prayer. Unforced, but deeply moving, was her utterance, and few eyes were dry with her powerful translation of its portent.

The national anthem and the "Marseillaise," sung by a chorus of High School girls, opened the program. A group of songs were sung charmingly by Miss Dorothy Harmon, and Mrs. Rose Tolbert Reed, of Eatonton played a piano selection.

LOUISE DOOLY.

PLAN THE WELFARE OF "ATLANTA'S OWN" AT MEETING TODAY

What the "Sponsors to the Atlanta Soldiery" can do for "Atlanta's Own" when they go into camp next week, probably in another city, will be an important matter for decision at the meeting of the sponsors this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Chamber of Commerce hall.

Numerous telephone calls have come from the soldiers to the officers of the sponsors organization since the announcement several days ago that the Atlanta troops are to be sent to Macon for preparatory work for France, or whatever new duty Uncle Sam assigns.

These calls are laments from those members of the Atlanta soldiery who have not yet heard from their sponsors, and fear that they must leave Atlanta with nobody to keep them posted about what goes on at home, and nobody to express an interest as to what they are doing and how they fare.

"Nearly every man in my company has heard from his sponsor except me," is the burden of their complaint," said one of the ladies yesterday who is prominent in the movement to keep the boys who represent Atlanta in the national guard assured that the women at home appreciate the responsibility the soldiers face, and will continue to be concerned in their welfare.

"If I don't have a sponsor by Tuesday, I'll have to go to Macon with nobody to care and nobody to hear from when I get there," is their anxiety.

Colonel Mrs. Wilmer L. Moore urges, therefore, a full attendance this afternoon at the general meeting. The weather may be hot, but not any more so for Atlanta women in their cool attire, than for the Fifth regiment, Headquarters and Troop L, Battery B and Field hospital company when they are drilling, guarding a desolate railroad bridge, or learning how to dig a trench under the same summer sun.

At this meeting plans for the big farewell picnic at Lakewood July 4 will be completed. Not all the soldiers can be present on that occasion, but a goodly showing will enjoy this final expression of good will. Colonel Hall will furnish today the number of men who may be counted upon, and Mrs. Moore wishes to secure this afternoon without fail the number of baskets guaranteed.

The hour has been changed to 4 o'clock on account of the Red Cross luncheon, and the meeting will begin promptly on the hour.

Membership buttons for the sponsors, these buttons done in the national colors, and bearing the coat of arms of Atlanta, with the name of the sponsors to the Atlanta soldiery, will be distributed this afternoon at the meeting. The buttons will be given only to members, and are not transferable.

Now, What Will the Senate Do?

The following letter was sent to the members of the House of Representatives on Friday night, June 22d, by the Legislative Committee of the Anti-Saloon League of America:

"Washington, D. C., June 22, 1917.

"My dear Sir:—Believing that we represent the earnest hopes and desires of an overwhelming majority of the Christian and temperance forces of our country—and multiplied thousands besides—we feel it is due that constituency and ourselves to set forth to our friends in Congress our position concerning war emergency prohibition.

"We believe that both for the proper conservation of our foodstuffs and in order to increase and maintain the greatest degree of national efficiency in our army and navy and our producing population at home, the Congress should, by direct legislation, provide—

"First: That no foods, food material or feeds shall be used in the manufacture of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes during the period of the war;

"Second: That in order to prevent, so far as possible, any unnecessary conversion of further food stuffs into intoxicating liquors for munitions, hospital or industrial purposes, the president shall be authorized to commandeer any or all liquors in bond or stock for use or redistillation for government purposes.

"Third: That under such rules and regulations as the President may prescribe, authority should be granted for the production of necessary alcohol or alcoholic liquors for legitimate scientific, industrial, pharmaceutical, sacramental and all governmental purposes.

"Fifth: That national prohibition of the manufacture, sale and transportation of all intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be enacted in order to conserve more fully the food supply for our army and navy, our civilian population, which supports and maintains them, and our allies, whom we must either help to feed or pay for the neglect to do so by augmenting our army at the front and our navy on the seas, as well as increase our producing power in all directions.

"We are convinced that the overwhelming sentiment of the country approves this program and that the people generally throughout the states are expecting the Congress to enact it. Representing the church and temperance constituency of the country as we do, we urge its speedily adoption by the Congress. Representative E. Y. Webb will propose such amendments, covering such features of the above propositions as it is believed may be held in order on the pending bill under the rules of the House.

"We are satisfied that your support of such amendments will meet with the approval of the patriotic citizenship of the nation.

"Very sincerely yours,

"E. C. DINWIDDIE, Legislative Superintendent.
"JAMES CANNON, JR.,
"A. J. BARTON,
"W. B. WHEELER,
"Legislative Com. Anti-Saloon League of America."

The House Goes the Limit

On the next day, Saturday, June 23, the House of Representatives adopted the Barkley-Webb amendment, which prohibits the use of any foods, foo materials or feeds in the production of alcoholic beverages, and authorizes the President to require any person having control of alcohol or distilled spirits to turn the same over to the government for redistillation, if necessary, for the manufacture of munitions, or for other governmental purposes.

This action taken by the House was as far as it could go in connection with the food control bill.

What Will the Senate Do?

The House bill now goes to the Senate for action. What will the Senate do with the bill? Will it weaken or strengthen the prohibition provisions?

The Legislative Committee will ask the Senate to retain the prohibition of the manufacture and to add the further prohibition of the sale during the continuance of the war. The opposition in the Senate will emphasize the loss of revenue, the demand for beer by workmen, and the usual arguments concerning personal liberty, with denunciation of the proposed law as unconstitutional.

What Do the People Want?

If you want the senators from your State to vote for national war prohibition of both the manufacture and the sale of all alcoholic beverages, including beer and wine, let them know that fact promptly and emphatically. The battle is half won. Let us press for complete victory.

E. C. DINWIDDIE, Legislative Supt.
JAMES CANNON, JR.,
A. J. BARTON,
W. B. WHEELER,
Legislative Committee.

The responsibility is now on the Senate for the passage of the National War Prohibition Bill. The responsibility is on the people of Georgia to state their wishes promptly and emphatically to the Senators from Georgia that they desire no exemption of beer, but "bone dry" National Prohibition.

C. O. JONES, Chm. Headquarters Committee.
JAMES A. CHRISTIAN, Supt. Ga. Anti-Saloon League.

New J. P. Allen Store Proves Mecca for Atlanta Women

Like the first sniff of the sea breeze, when you leave the hot, dusty train you have been on all night, is the atmosphere you get when you enter the new store of J. P. Allen company, which opened yesterday morning on Whitehall street.

Atlanta-like, therefore Phoenix-like, has the new store grown out of the ruins of the former one, burned December, 1916. In architecture the building follows lines of dignity and simplicity.

The interior at once promises in light, the ventilation and roominess which follow; the walls are ivory white, the woodwork is in soft brown finish, and to the atmosphere hospitality was expressed Thursday not only in the cordiality of the business staff, but in a huge horseshoe of red and white carnations, sent by the neighbor department store across the street—the M. Rich & Bros. Co.

Electric fans played their part in making one forget the records of the thermometer without, but did not do away with the temptation every woman felt to buy one of the exquisite fans which filled an entire case not far beyond the entrance door, down one of the center aisles. The only inducement to wear a glove is the possession of dainty fresh ones, which were opened for the first time Thursday. There were silk ones, and chamois ones, and shiny and suede ones, and in their style they made a woman realize that comfort or no comfort, no toilet outside the front door is complete without them.

The Accessories.

And how could she carry one of the beautiful perishable bags which every woman carries now, when she is doing her best to be an ornament to society, if her hand is not gloved. The bags have come to refute the statement that every kind of bag that could be made has been made, for there are new ones in the Allen collection to make the average woman feel that she would like to retire on a pension the worthiest bags she has, just to possess one of the newest ones.

To meet the eternal fitness of things, which requires that if a woman wears any jewelry at all with sport or outing clothes she must wear the right kind, the new store has a department of jewelry and accessories that are arts of the nouveau art scheme, which has suggested the prints on the gaily-colored golf costumes and the beaded trimming on the latest sport hat. There are the hand-made bead necklace, lorgnette chains, fan chains of jade, and smoked amber and malakite, amethyst, and the semi-precious stones. While for toilets indoor or in the evening, there is every variety of necklace in pearls, etc., and combs large and small that sparkle just as gew-gaws should in the coiffures of pretty women.

For that dark silk gown you have felt needed a lighter touch ever since you bought it in the spring, there is a display of collars and cuffs to select from that make one question how on earth we can get such pretty, dainty handiwork with this cruel war going on. These collars are deep and square, sometimes, or made in fichu effects. They are of muslin or chiffon, or the finest French organdy, or, if you prefer them, of lace or net, or even just hemstitched.

The Blouses.

Was there ever a woman who thought that she had enough blouses of all kinds—blouses for her traveling suit, then the other kind for the best white sport suit or the lacy net ones to be worn with the new white satin skirt? If she is not satisfied, and feels she needs another, though she can't exactly tell what kind, let her go this morning and make a choice before they are all gone—for reception day—Thursday—tested even the enormous stock on hand.

There were blouses in soft silk or satin, in voile and cotton chiffon, in crepe de chine and in handkerchief linen and lingerie. There are those embroidered or plain, or those trimmed in filet or val. or pointe de Herre, and while the blouses are being examined women shopping for present needs must understand that the silk petticoat is just as important a part of the trousseau as it was in days when every woman when she walked felt it her feminine duty to have her petticoats "swish."

The Shoes.

There have been many changes in the way women dress and the styles they adopt, and in the real etiquette of dress, and yet there is one rule that always holds and that is that a lady is always gauged by the kind of shoe she wears. The shoe with the run-down heel, or button off, or a rusty shoestring, or a shoe worn when it should be a slipper, is unforgivable. And now, especially when women so readily are willing to let so much of their foot and ankle show, it is incumbent upon them to be well shod. Allen is showing the new high boots in glazed kid, the first to be seen here, especially in the all-tan and all-brown shades. There are gray kid shoes with gray moire tops, and white shoes of all kinds, and low shoes and slippers that present the last cry in fashion and infinite variety in color.

Trouble on the Second Floor.

But I believe if a woman gets in any trouble with herself in the new store, it will be on the second floor, for there she is going to find the kind of gown for morning she needs, the kind of afternoon frock she wants, and the evening gown she must have.

There is a reception room in French gray and gold—the mural decorations, and a gray rug on the floor. The electric lights show through crystal globes and there, drawn from chests of drawers in the wall, are evening gowns expressing the latest tyle and taste. There are fitting rooms adjoining and there is a secrecy about these that would indicate a woman would be fully protected if she bought more than she wanted anybody to know about.

In the main show room are the gowns of all kinds, from those coming under the head of dainty for morning wear, to those suggesting a fashionable tea-dance, a pretentious afternoon, reception or an informal dinner at the country clubs.

There are silk and satin coats of all kinds, the most attractive of these a white satin raincoat warranted to be a raincoat. There are the silk coats for afternoon wear, motoring, or walking, in the dark shades of silk. There are more sporty ones trimmed in marabou and there are suits, and then more suits. And we won't discuss them, but they are there—beautiful furs—especially adapted for summer wear.

Millinery and Lingerie.

In millinery the third floor bloomed—bloomed in the rose pink of a chiffon scarf trimmed with roses and a chiffon hat destined to make of the woman who gets it an irresistible picture; bloomed in hats of orchid color and in hats of blue, and hats trimmed in flame color, or the color one has said of sun kissed poppies. A little leghorn hat trimmed in flame color had to go with it a parasol the same color, also a cane, for if Mi-ladi walks during the sun hour she needs a parasol; if at the twilight hour she carries her cane, or if she is taking any kind of a hike.

There were dignified looking black hats, those coquettish and those downright and uncompromisingly flirtatious. Then there were all white hats and modified gray hats which Dorothy Fox might have worn.

In lingerie there was everything which makes up the perishable and most admired part of the bridal trousseau. There was the kimono for a cold day, the one for a warm day, and then those diaphanous effects which women wear at any time when they wish to be entirely alluring. In lingerie there was the favorite crepe de chine, that in silk or in the finest cambrics, muslins, and handkerchief linens.

A survey of the new store would be incomplete without a view of the rest rooms and hair-dressing parlors on the fourth floor. The rest rooms are large, well ventilated and luxuriously furnished. There are desks for correspondence, reading tables, dressing rooms, etc.

The hair-dressing parlors reflect the same completeness of every department of the new establishment and are in charge of Mrs. Theresa Zahn and a corps of able assistants.

ALEXANDER DENOUNCES THE DISLOYAL CITIZEN

Men Who Lead in Embarrassing Government Denounced Wilson's Efforts for Peace.

Lawrenceville, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—"The men who are leading in the treasonable attempt to embarrass our government today are the same men who, a year ago, were denouncing the president's efforts to preserve the peace. They never cared for the honor of this nation or its rights. They wanted only to vent an unholy hatred for the democratic party and our great president."

With these ringing words as the keynote of a scathing denunciation of the lackers, and those unpatriotic and disloyal citizens who were endeavoring to embarrass the government in this hour of peril, District Attorney Hooper Alexander today addressed several hundred people in the courthouse here, and there was marked enthusiasm at his remarks by a great majority of those present.

Verge Upon Treason.

Mr. Alexander's ancestors lived in Gwinnett county, and he spoke feelingly of the kinship he claimed with the people of this section, and deplored the fact, as he claimed, that "men have been going about in Gwinnett at night saying things and teaching doctrines that are so false and unpatriotic as to verge close upon the odious crime of treason against their country; and I have grave reason to fear that they have had countenance and support from some in your midst who have in the past enjoyed the confidence of this people. I want to know whether the decent and liberty-loving people of this county are going to stand for it.

"A time is surely coming when the children's children of some men now living are going to blush at the story of the dishonor of their ancestors in this hour of the nation's travail."

Continuing the speaker said:

"The very name your county bears is that of one who, in the name and by the authority of the good people of Georgia, signed the Declaration of Independence; who dared to set the faces of the people toward the light of freedom, against the might of an autocracy which, in that day, compelled the unwilling people of England to war, even as the Emperor of Germany today drives the German masses to brutality and murder.

"In that day, as in this, there were protesting tories and discordant voices seeking to hamper the stately progress of this people in their resolution to be free. Now, as then, the resistless purpose of America is going to silence the voice of treason at home, and carry freedom to Germany as we carried freedom to England, and stand unflinching to defend the liberties in this day that Gwinnett and his associates, who were your fathers and mine, established then."

No Attack Is to Defend.

Speaking directly of the war with Germany, the speaker said:

"God forbid that we hearken to cowards' counsel. Away with such puling nonsense. We did not enter on this war for child's play. We know that the way to defend is to attack, and we mean this war to be fought on German soil. We shall not wait for bloody William to desolate our coasts or waste our fields. We shall not treat with him for peace in America. God willing, we mean that our soldiers shall cross the Rhine and tread the highways to Berlin, and that American pens shall write the terms of peace at Potsdam."

The closest attention was paid the speaker and there was no incident during the occasion. No resolutions were passed.

SAVANNAH POSTMASTER BARS WATSON'S PAPER

Savannah, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Acting under the provisions of the recently passed espionage act, Postmaster Marion Lucas today declined to permit the delivery through his office of The Jeffersonian, Tom Watson's weekly paper, published at Thomson, Ga. Newsdealers were notified that the packages which should have been delivered today could not be sent out.

Watson has been attacking the government's conscription act. The postmaster reported the matter to the postmaster general, who finally determines whether the papers shall be delivered or not. Pending the decision of the postmaster general the papers are held in the Savannah office.

This is believed to be the first action against a periodical taken under this act by an American postmaster.

No Orders Reach Atlanta.

No orders against the distribution of The Jeffersonian, Thomas Watson's weekly, were issued at the Atlanta postoffice Thursday.

It was stated by the postmaster, Bolling H. Jones, that the Watson publication would be handled through the postoffice until orders from the department in Washington to the contrary were received.

ALIENS ASK TO RESIDE IN PROHIBITED AREAS

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Close to 100 enemy aliens in the southern district of Georgia have applied to United States Marshal J. S. Davis recently for permission to reside in prohibited areas, most of the applications coming from Savannah, which has a large German population. So far only one permit has beeen issued in the Macon, and four in the district.

The permits are issued in the discretion of the marshal, but the applicants are required to meet certain conditions first. In some cases sponsors for the good behavior are all that is necessary, while in other cases bonds are required. In some instances these bonds are placed as high as $10,000.

Brittain will speak. There will be lectures on Monday and Tuesday evenings by Dr. Muerman, of the bureau of education, Washington, D. C.

MACON RAISES $30,000 TOWARD $50,000 QUOTA

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Macon's subscriptions to the Red Cross fund aggregated approximately $30,000 today, or within $20,000 of the quota alloted to this city. It is now believed the full $50,000 will be subscribed by Saturday night.

The subscriptions range all the way from 83 cents to $2,500. New subscriptions reported today includes those of the Southern Bell Telephone company and the Macon Railway and Light company for $1,000 each.

Macon negroes are aiding in the campaign, having set out to raise $5,000.

INJURED WHILE DRIVING TO WOUNDED BROTHER

Waycross, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—Miss Lillian Geiger was knocked through the windshield of an automobile which she was driving to the hospital today and seriously cut about the face and head. The car skidded and struck a telephone pole. She was going to see her brother, Donald, who earlier in the day had his right eye accidentally knocked out by a playmate.

UNCLE SAM SAYS HE MU ST HAVE STENOGRAPHERS---TH OUSANDS OF THEM--- TO FILL PO SITIONS IN HIS OFFICES

Draughon's Chain of Fifty Colleges Has Been Helping to Supply the Government With Clerical Help for Thirty Years — Uncle Sam Knows Where to Find the Most Efficient Office Help.

T. L. Williams, Graduate of Draughon's College, now Official Court Reporter, Tallapoosa Circuit.

Uncle Sam says he needs thousands of stenographers to fill positions in Washington and elsewhere. Many of these desirable positions were created by war conditions. This call is to you if you are a stenographer or will prepare to become a stenographer.

Beginning with your first day's work for him, he will pay you from $900.00 to $1,200.00 a year. As your ability increases, he will increase your salary—will pay you $2,000.00 a year; in fact, your salary may be increased to $5,000.00 a year—the salary that he is paying many of his office employees.

He advanced one of his $900.00-a-year stenographers to an $8,000.00-a-year position; and the training that this stenographer got in his office paved the way for him to secure with a big corporation a position that paid him a salary of $100,000.00 a year.

As his stenographer, your working hours will be short, only from 9 A. M. to 4:30 P. M.; you will not have to work for him on holidays; you will get a half-holiday every Saturday, from June 15 to September 15; you will have every year, 30 days' vacation with full pay, and, if necessary, 30 days' sick leave, WITH FULL PAY.

While in Washington, you can visit Uncle Sam's libraries and museums, come in contact with the big men of the day, hear the debates in congress, etc. Furthermore, your working hours being so short, you can enter one of the universities and study law, medicine, dentistry, art, music, or the like, and at the same time earn a BIG salary.

If you do not care to go to Washington, he has a place for you near home. He employs stenographers in every one of his States and Territories. There are countless opportunities open to you. If you are not a stenographer—not qualified to work for him in that capacity—when will you be ready to take such a position with him? HE NEEDS YOU.

Draughon's Business College has been training young people for the government and for big business men for over 30 years, and if you want a position that really counts for something, attend Draughon's.

For full information, write or phone H. R. Todd, President, Draughon's Business College, Atlanta, Georgia.

SALE OF PROPERTY LEFT TECH IN WILL URGED BY ANDREWS

If a bill, introduced in the senate Thursday morning by Senator Walter P. Andrews, of the 35th district, becomes a law, the Georgia School of Technology will be enabled to receive in cash the value of a fine piece of property on Washington street, in Atlanta, and some several thousand acres of land in Texas.

This property is part of that portion of the estate of Julius Brown, which was left to Georgia Tech. The bill would authorize the trustees of Tech to sell this property, and would make the chairman of the board of trustees, who is Governor Harris, manager of the property for its sale. The property is said to be of value amounting to more than $150,000.

Governor Harris favors the passage of this bill, and is also anxious for the passage of a bill appropriating $30,000 for the for the erection of a building at Tech to shelter $150,000 worth of machinery which has been donated to the training. This machinery is now lying idle. This machinery is now lying in the weather and must shortly be ruined unless some provision is made to protect it.

General Harris said today that he expects the First regiment to arrive at Camp Harris either late tonight or tomorrow morning and that the Fifth regiment will be here some time before the end of the week. Camp Harris is ready for their reception. All of the Second regiment is now encamped there.

TO FEED BIBB HOGS FROM SOLDIERS' CAMP

Macon, Ga., June 28.—(Special.)—From 5,000 to 10,000 hogs will be fed daily from the refuse from the army camp to be located in Macon and if the latter number are fed, as now seems likely, the farmers of the county will benefit to the extent of $1,200 daily.

Plans for disposing of the camp refuse are being worked out by W. G. Middlebrooks, county farm demonstration agent, and James E. Downing, state pig club agent, and the farmers will be allotted a certain number of company kitchens daily from which they will receive the refuse. The only expense to be attached to the securing of this food for the hogs will be that of hauling it away.

KATZENJAMMERED!

Now that the house speakership contest is a memory, with Mr. Holder in the chair, we are informed for the first time and by the Macon Telegraph, that "capital removal" was the real "issue," and that Macon lost again!

This surprising news is contained in an editorial appearing in the Telegraph Thursday morning, which The Constitution reproduces in full in another column of this page. We are passing it on to our own readers, not so much to enlighten them as because it is the most peculiar example of journalistic ghost-walking that we have run across in many a day.

We frequently run across men who are bright—even brilliant—perfectly rational, sane and evenly-balanced ordinarily, but who upon some one particular subject are as wild as Alpine chamois.

Ordinarily the Telegraph is sane and safe, hard-plugging and even-tempered; but let "capital removal" enter its brain—as it does periodically—and the Telegraph is "gone" like a flash, and with no more sense of bearing than that of a locoed steer.

As a matter of fact, the speakership race had no relation whatsoever to the capital question.

From the beginning to the end of it, not a word was uttered about capital removal. No newspaper said a word about it; the people of Georgia never gave it a thought; Mr. Burwell had his mind upon things entirely foreign to it; Mr. Culpepper never even dreamed of it, and Mr. Holder had no more of a notion that he was fighting a mythical "capital removal issue" than that the authorship of Bacon's Essays was in controversy.

The contest had no more to do with "capital removal" than with the Chinese situation, or with Irish "home rule"—but here comes the Macon Telegraph, throws up its hands and gasps "My God! 'Capital removal' was the issue; and we have lost again!"

"Capital removal" as a real "issue" in Georgia has not existed, in truth, save in the hallucination of the Macon Telegraph, since the people settled the question at the ballot box, and settled it for good and forever.

But now, if what the Telegraph says is true, and it was the paramount "issue" in the speakership race, all well and good!

Let it be so; but if so, we have the Telegraph itself for it, that this time it is settled in Atlanta's favor by a vote of from three to four to one—for, according to the Telegraph, the only candidate who made the race on that issue—without his knowing that he was doing so—got about that proportion of the full vote.

PENALIZING PATRIOTISM.

In various parts of the country young men eligible for military service and registered according to law have complained that they find unusual difficulty in procuring employment if out of work; others, in business, that banks and money lenders are extremely chary about advancing them loans, solely because of their liability to the draft.

A case in point is that of a young married man just out of college, who declares that employer after employer has refused to give him a position solely because:

"We want a man upon whom we can rely to stay with us permanently. We had a good young man in the position, but he left us to enlist. We can't afford to hire another who is liable to conscription."

Another is that of a young professional man sorely in need of a little financial "lift" to tide him over temporarily in his work, who declares that his bank has declined to advance him a loan because he is registered for conscription, has no certain claim for exemption and thus may be called to the colors before the money is repaid. Other loan agencies, he declares, have also rejected his application simply and solely upon that same ground.

This strikes the ordinary man as being akin to penalizing patriotism. It virtually amounts to declaring "closed shop" against the young men who have signified their willingness to leave their families and serve in arms if their country calls them. And it is not fair; nor is it a patriotic attitude on the part of business.

The idea that a physically deficient young man should have preference in wartime over the physically fit, or that a man 32 years old should enjoy civil and commercial advantages over the man 30 years old, is un-American and unjust.

No form of the boycott should be invoked against a man because of his faithfulness to the flag!

Here is something to which every patriotic American business man—and the vast majority of them are intensely patriotic—might well apply sober thought.

And after thinking the thing out the safe presumption is that he will conclude that he can render a distinct service to his country in withholding equal opportunities and advantages from no young man who stands ready upon call to serve his country on the firing line.

PLAYING WITH FIRE.

Germany submarined an Argentine steamer off Gibraltar a few days ago, and the world will wait with keen interest to see what comes of the incident.

In prosecuting its murderous underseas warfare against neutral South American republics, especially Argentina and Brazil, Germany is playing with fire—a fact realized at Berlin, evidently, because this is the first Argentine ship reported wantonly sunk by a U-boat since the United States entered the war, and one of the very few of any Latin-American flag.

This country's declaration of war was followed by determined agitation in Brazil and Argentina, directed to a similar declaration by each of those countries. In fact, most of the South American countries have officially admitted belligerent United States to their ports, which to all intents and purposes virtually amounts to a severance of diplomatic relations with the enemy. And for that reason, it may be assumed, Germany has been exceedingly chary about committing "overt acts" against them on the high seas.

How Argentina looks upon the war and the entrance of the United States into it, and how the people down there feel toward Germany, may be pretty clearly judged by the comment of one of its leading and most popular newspapers, the Buenos Aires Nacion, shortly after we entered the war. The Nacion said:

> The United States goes to war against war, impelled by the need, deep-felt in her American heart, of putting an end once and for all to the barbarism of slaughter, to the barbarism of conquest, to barbarism never so barbarous as since science became its accomplice. If before now we could and did say that there were no real neutrals in the strict sense of the word, true neutrals, in sentiments, in ideas, or even in interest, in the face of the conflagration where clash German methods with the ideas, the methods, the inspiration and genius of England, of the Latin peoples of great mysterious Russia, and even of the remote spirit of the Far East, today all Americans can repeat the statement with more force and conviction than ever. The eagles that touch the stars are crossing the Atlantic, bearing the ideal of all America, peace and brotherhood, to do battle with the eagles that look ever downward seeking prey.

This expression indicates that Argentina is in a mood to brook no uncalled-for German assaults and in no mood for diplomatic dallying in event of the commission of an openly unfriendly act—such as the sinking of the Toro may prove to be.

Argentina could throw a heavy weight into the balance on the side of the allies, with her tremendous resources in foodstuffs and other necessities, and her armed forces. These last consist in naval tonnage of 140,000, and an army of 415,000 trained men. She also possesses a merchant tonnage of 222,000; has a population of 7,000,000, and an area of 1,212,000 square miles, mostly of productive land.

But of greatest significance is the fact that, were Argentina to enter the war, a very few days probably would find the major portion of the combined Latin-American strength making common cause with the forces of democracy arrayed against the Prussian throne. And Latin-America organized upon a war basis, as component parts of a fighting unit, would throw such a weight of power into the balance against our foe as to very materially hasten the end.

Beside whatever else Mr. Root may be doing for the Russians, he is giving them some mighty wholesome advice.

A war 3,000 miles away isn't popular, in the opinion of Amos Pinchot. But the fact that since it was begun more than 500,000 American citizens have been recruited by voluntary enlistment to fight doesn't add much argument to the contention.

The Houston Post says that "the North is a whole lot smarter than the south in many respects," but that "the south has more cornbread sense in a day than the north seems to have noodle enough to acquire at all."

There is a growing general curiosity as to how things are managed in Mrs. Hoover's commissary.

See that your coupon clippers are in good order.

Your Red Cross dollars are your best dollars, for they work in the world-interest of humanity.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

By FRANK L. STANTON

Rain and Harvest.

I.

Rain, dream of the harvest
In the stillness of the night;
Tinkle on the cornblades
And set 'em dancin' right!
For it's harvest time that leads us to the land of Life's delight,—
Rain, be a kind friend to the harvest!

II.

Rain, make the meadows
Green beneath the sky;
Let the singing of the winds
Be without a sigh!
For it's in the harvest country
We tell our cares good-by,—
Rain, be a kind friend to the harvest!

III.

On the shimmering hillside,
On the thirsting plain
Let not the soul of summer
Sigh for you in vain.
A world looks to Heaven
For the blessing of the rain,—
Rain, be a kind friend to the harvest!

Some Georgia Nuggets.

Reason there's no record of Satan complaining that "the fire's out" is because he never fails to push up the chunks.

It's fine to be in the land of wonderful dreams, but wonderful work is what set all the high stars a-singing.

The sad thought of the summer sinners is that the hot weather is "'climatising' 'em to what's coming.

When the old world rolls heavenward in "a blaze of glory," the general complaint is that blazes are too blinding.

Doing His Bit.

On "Doing His Bit" Poet C. T. Davis writes, in his Arkansas Gazette column:

"At least
I am helping
A lot of butchers
And bakers
And candlestick makers
To buy Liberty Bonds."

And this is one of his domestic poems:

"This line
About 'bouncing babies'
Is still
Kind of obscure to me.
I dropped one once
To see if he would bounce
And all that happened was
That I got bounced
As a nurse."

Fine, Strong Verse.

This fine verse, by Herman Hagedorn, appeared in Collier's, in 1915, under the title of "Fifth Avenue, 1915," and is still going the rounds:

"The motor cars go up and down,
The painted ladies sit and smile.
Along the sidewalk, mile on mile,
Parade the dandies of the town.

"The latest hat, the latest gown,
The tedium of their souls beguile.
The motor cars go up and down,
The painted ladies sit and smile.

"In wild and icy waters drown
A thousand for a rock-bound isle,
Ten thousand in a black defile
Perish for justice, or a crown.
The motor cars go up and down."

Tel. and Tel. Company Gives $500,000 to Red Cross Fund

A subscription of $500,000 to the American Red Cross fund was announced yesterday by the American Telephone and Telegraph company and its associated companies which form the Bell system.

The south's share of this is $35,000, of which $17,500 is contributed by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, and $17,500 by the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company. The announcement was made by First Vice President J. Epps Brown, and it is stated that the amount donated by the Southern Bell and Cumberland companies will be divided among the cities in the south which have undertaken a campaign in the interest of the Red Cross fund. Atlanta's share is $3,500 and other cities in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Louisiana will receive donations in proportion. The contribution is payable 70 per cent during the current year and 30 per cent in 1918.

CITY TICKET OFFICES TO BE CLOSED TODAY

The city ticket offices of all railroads will close at 1 o'clock today in order to enable the ticket agents to attend the annual outing of the Atlanta Passenger club to be held at the Burns club.

The outing is to be an old-fashioned basket picnic and all passenger men are invited to be guests of the club. There will be a baseball game between the initial and foreign line men. H. C. Bailey will captain the initial line team and E. H. Dallas will lead the foreign line men. There will be music and dancing afternoon and evening, and games for the ladies and kids.

The board of governors have charge of arrangements.

Committee of Shippers Named By Atlanta Chamber of Commerce

The commission on car service appointed to control the re-locations of freight cars under the new co-operative plan of the American Railways association is soon to be in full charge of such cars through the 24 subcommittees formed in railroad center cities of the United States, one of which committee is now active in Atlanta.

Ivan Allen, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, has appointed the following named "committee of shippers," all Atlanta business men, to co-operate with the Atlanta district subcommittee of the American Railways association commission on car service: Brooks Morgan, chairman; Bolling H. Jones, J. W. White, International Agricultural association; James Gentry, Atlantic Ice and Coal corporation; H. T. Moore, Atlanta Freight Bureau; E. D. Duncan, White Hickory Wagon company, and Frank R. Lake, Lake Lumber company.

This committee will co-operate with the various local subcommittees with a view to interesting the shipping public in loading cars to full capacity, avoiding detentions to cars, saving car hours and relieving local embargoes by assisting in finding storage space.

A meeting between the shippers' committee and the subcommittees of the American Railways association will be held in Atlanta in the near future.

The commission on car service has ordered track line railroads entering Atlanta to weigh typical freight trains proceeding in each direction in order to keep accurate record of the tonnage of cars.

The commission has also ordered that a report be filed with them showing number of cars ordered by each concern, the number loaded and the number of cars the plant ordering can load each week.

The commission on car service at Washington is vested with the power of arbitrary relocations of all cars. In the event of a car famine they have the power to order any railroad to deliver to another road a specified number of cars if the weekly reports show a railroad has less cars then on its line than owned, although shippers on this railroad may at the same time be without sufficient cars to take care of their business.

But the commission has stated that cars will not be ordered to one road from another unless both the shippers and the railroad desiring the cars can show that they have been loading the cars already furnished them to full capacity. The commission feels that full usage of cars furnished must be made before a shortage exists.

These plans were made by some of the ablest railroad men in the country in order to provide a cohesive organization of all the railroads in the United States.

Following out that plan it was felt that the ideas of the shippers would be of benefit to the railroads and vice versa. There will doubtless be much inconvenience as government movements increase, and it is desired to formulate a program whereby the best plans may be put into effect for the public welfare as a whole, rather than the interests of any individual or railroad.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

WATERING THE BABY.

As the garden and flower bed gets under way and you are sprinkling the young growing plants, remember that the baby, too, must be watered frequently in warm weather.

A baby requires about ten times as much water as an adult, in proportion with his weight. This is why experienced physicians often prescribe such high dilution of food for babies.

A baby will not ask for water, and may not even know what he wants when he wants a drink of water.

A glass of water in the day is none too much for a baby a few months old to drink. More in very warm weather.

A baby being nursed or fed by hand should be fed only by the clock and not every time he cries. Irregular feeding is pernicious, and induces much disturbance of the stomach and bowels in babies. If the baby cries when it isn't meal time, give him some water. He may be thirsty rather than hungry.

When a baby is feverish from any cause, he requires more cool water than when well.

In the presence of diarrhoea or summer complaint with watery stools, the baby needs a great deal of cool water, and by feeding him plenty of it alarming symptoms may be warded off.

When the urine is scanty and highly colored the baby requires more water, to improve the function of the kidneys. Sometimes under such conditions the child cries when passing water, and this is because of the concentrated fluid irritating; he needs a lot of water to drink.

A child with hoarseness and cough should be given plenty of water in order to render the mucous secretion more liquid.

Babies subject to indigestion or colic should have more cool water between feedings.

If babies were given enough water they wouldn't have to swallow so much medicine.

When feeding a baby water, feed it from spoon or cup. It is always advisable to train a baby to take liquids from spoon or cup. It makes weaning much easier when the time comes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Chewing Gum Not Sanitary.

Is chewing gum after eating beneficial to digestion? Is it sanitary to chew a stick of gum more than once? Will you please republish your remedy for canker sores in the mouth? (L. M. R.)

ANSWER—There is no harm in chewing gum if you enjoy it. Possibly a good way to absorb the thought of an idle mind, and an idle mind is always seeking some mischief to perform, for instance, thinking of digestion too much. It is unsanitary to pick up an old, second-hand chew of gum, even if you are sure no one has been trying it in your absence. For canker sores, touch each spot daily with half strength tincture of iodine—half tincture and half grain alcohol.

Oily Skin and Scalp.

Please give a recipe for oily skin and oily scalp.

ANSWER—Frequent vigorous bathing with soap and hot water. Plain toilet soap, or, in less tender skins, tincture of green soap. Rinse out all soap with several rinsings of cold water. Sponge off skin once or twice a day with alcohol on cotton dossles. Massage skin and scalp moderately with finger tips every day. Every two or three days a small amount of alcoholic 5 per cent solution of salicylic acid may be massaged into skin and scalp.

Exercise for Strengthening Weak Feet.

Will you kindly describe an exercise for strengthening weak arches? (J. M.)

ANSWER—Rising on toes, toeing in, slowly, and slowly lowering, then on heels, toeing in, and slowly to floor again, repeated several times night and morning barefoot. Grasping objects with the toes. Toeing in when walking. Bending feet forcibly inward as far as possible several times night and morning.

Suffragists Aid Government In Furthering War Measures

Editor Constitution: Before war was declared it was a pet pastime of the opponents of woman suffrage to decry the patriotism and loyalty of suffragists. But when the war cloud first drew ominously close to America a watching world did not fail to take notice that suffragists were foremost among all women to put their organizations and its resources at their country's command. Since that date it has been increasingly evident that it is suffragists who are the country's main reliance for the much-needed woman power to help further the nation's war measures.

Women selected for national counsel have been largely drawn from suffrage ranks, notably Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, as head of the women's committee of the Council of National Defense.

Registration days found S. O. S. calls going out from government officials to suffrage headquarters all over the country for the use of suffrage district maps and suffragist staff officers skilled in city and state political divisions. The response was swift from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Suffragists sprang to the rescue in the underwriting of the Liberty Loan, upwards of a million dollars' worth of the bonds having been sold by their committees and subcommittees. New York suffragists raised the funds for hospital and recreation units for Plattsburg and Niagara.

Thorough-going plans for the raising and preserving of food, for the elimination of public and private waste, for the protection of women's labor in time of war, and for the Americanization of aliens, form four more details of the National American Woman Suffrage association's nation-wide war service to the government.

American suffragists are asking now for the passage of the federal suffrage amendment as a war measure in order that this country may escape the charge that it has bargained with its women—so much service so much gain.

The government must not make a bargain counter sale of the democracy it is sending our men to the front to give their lives to maintain. It must start about setting the world right for democracy by giving American women the franchise for democracy's sake, not for the sake of benefits received at the hands of the women. It must do this proudly in advance of the price women must pay for this war.

CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT,
President of National Woman Suffrage Association.

MARY LATIMER M'LENDON,
President of Georgia Woman Suffrage Association.

FINAL PREPARATIONS FOR BIG CELEBRATION AT LAKEWOOD ON 4TH

Final preparations for the great Fourth of July celebration at Lakewood are being made and in the course of a few days the stage will be set for one of the biggest day's entertainment Atlanta has ever seen.

Facilities for entertaining a monster crowd are being rushed to completion and the number of front gates of the fair grounds has been increased from eight, which number proved incompetent to accommodate the crowds last year, to twenty-two, and consequently there will be no waiting for admittance.

The new $53,000 fair building is being rapidly constructed and it is thought that the big military dance can be staged on its first floor.

The lake itself is every day alive with swimmers and boats and many picnics are being held on the grounds. The fireworks experts from Chicago are hard at work on the display, which will be made in the early part of the night, and forty race horses are making daily tryouts on the big Southeastern Fair track.

Drivers all over the south are making entries for the motorcycle races and indications are that the biggest card in the history of the city will be offered visitors at the grounds.

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

The finance committee of council Thursday morning recommended to council that $2,000 be given to the department of public works to make repairs at the Peachtree sewage disposal plant, which, the committee was told recently during an inspection tour at this plant, was absolutely necessary to prevent considerable damage to the plant.

Mrs. E. L. Sheldor filed suit in superior court Thursday against the mayor and council of College Park asking $25,000 damages for alleged injuries received by her due to an excessive current of electricity in her home on October 24, 1916, which was supplied with electricity from the city's plant, when, it is stated, she was injured in turning an electric switch, the current passing through her body. Mrs. Sheldor filed a similar suit some time ago, but the name of defendants was improperly given and the institution of new proceedings was made necessary. The suit was filed by Nalley & Scott.

Nettie Smith filed suit in superior court Thursday asking for $2,000 damages from Isaac Sanders and Mrs. Isaac Sanders, alleging that on June 10, 1917, while in the employ of defendants as a servant, and having the care of their infant child, she was riding in a "five-passenger Ford" being run by Mrs. Sanders, at the direction of her husband, and that at the corner of Georgia avenue and Pulliam street Mrs. Sanders lost control of the car, ran into a curbstone, causing the plaintiff to be thrown to the ground, and causing injury. Attorney Thomas G. Lewis filed the suit.

Suit for $10,000 was filed in superior court Thursday by W. E. Deleshaw against Georgia Lead company. The complaint alleges that Deleshaw, on March 31, 1917, while employed by defendant company as a laborer, was loading lead onto a box car, and that he was using a piece of flat iron as a walkway to the car door, provided by the company for that purpose; that while he was pushing a wheelbarrow up the walkway the latter slipped and fell with him, causing severe injury. The suit was filed by Attorneys E. A. Buchanan and Hewlett & Dennis.

Superintendents of railroads operating in Georgia and officials of the Georgia Automobile association will hold a meeting next Monday at 1 o'clock at the Ansley hotel for the purpose of discussing the passage of a law offering a uniform system of danger signals to warn auto drivers at railway crossings. The legislation most desired by both bodies is some law which will cause drivers to be more careful when crossing tracks.

A life of adventure amid shifting scenes upon which he had embarked yesterday morning ended in Macon in the afternoon for Clarence Smith, 14, of 65 Tye street. He was taken in custody by a patrolman as he emerged from a car of the Dixie Flyer. The lad is the son of P. A. Smith. He will be returned to his home here by his father. Upon learning of the boy's adventure the parent at once wired the Macon police.

Further investigation by Grady hospital authorities yesterday afternoon into the supposed attempt at suicide of a young woman who registered at the Folsom hotel as Mrs. Joe Simmons, of Clayton, developed that her condition had been produced by morphine properly administered by a physician. She had been ill of acute indigestion. In the belief she had swallowed a large quantity of the drug in an effort to end her life, physicians in attendance at the hotel had her sent to Grady. She was returned to the hotel.

"Capital Removal" Was Made the Real Issue, And Macon Lost Again

(From The Macon Telegraph, June 28.)

The sudden shift in the complexion of the speaker's race whereby events have resolved themselves into a situation which seems to guarantee the election of the Hon. John N. Holder, of Jackson, came about largely through a sectional alignment which took the race off the non-sectional plane upon which, up to eighteen hours before the balloting, they had apparently won the race.

It was the north Georgia political cohesiveness, the old sectional stand-by-the-flag-ism of the older and more coherently organized political division lying from Atlanta north that put the gentleman from Jackson back in the chair he occupied during the sessions of 1911-12. The middle Georgians, seldom interested in sectional fights, were split up from the start, the south Georgians found themselves mainly supporting Burwell with Holder taking a good deal of strength because of personal and, it is charged, church ties.

The whole story is that the north Georgians were able at the last minute to vote their section almost solidly for the north Georgia man, to drop all other appreciable issues and swing men of that territory whose actual pledges and promises were taken at their face value by the Burwell forces, and so counted on, over to the man from their "neck of the woods." Many south Georgians with just as much if not more at stake on sectional issues found themselves unable to get together, voted on personal alignments, on church connections, on the prospect of gaining admittance to future political factions.

The fact that they were frittering away opportunity over little things and making what will amount to a political vassalage of their own section did not seem to count. On the vote for speaker of the Georgia house of representatives the much vaunted, the boasted south Georgia entity, the south Georgia sectional unity and self-consciousness was not in evidence. This would have been all right except that the northern territory after using every other means, unsuccessfully, to wear away the until very recently undisputed Burwell strength, made the straight open play of their section against the other crowd and men who were immovable on every other plea were unable to resist that call—even though to answer it meant a complete switch in their allegiance.

That is the big victory that was won in the beating of the Burwell strength during the balloting Wednesday morning—the installation in the speaker's chair of a man from north of Atlanta, the breaking up of the impartial reign in the house that had recognized no section, that operated its machinery for all the state of Georgia. The puzzling, in some respects the humiliating, angle of it is that so many men from south Georgia either ignored their sectional implantation entirely, placing factional intrigue or personal connection high above it, or else lacked the intelligence to see what was being done to them and their section.

But that's water under the bridges. Mr. Holder will be a competent enough speaker. He may not allow his sectional genesis to sway him, but he is a politician and a skilled one and he knows full well what was the cry and what the alignment that at the last moment pulled his burning chestnuts out of the fire, that turned certain rout into victory. The time may come pretty quickly when a great many south Georgia voters are going to ask some very pointed questions seeking full explanations from not a few south Georgia representatives.

The fight was always between Burwell and Holder. The latter won through his sectional colleagues coming to the rescue at the eleventh hour, the former because there was no sectional counter drift to him to offset the unexpected turn in that direction for Holder. Other reasons will be advanced, but the "North Georgia for North Georgia all the time" cry won the day for the north Georgia candidate.

CENTRAL MAY TAKE OFF TWO JONESBORO TRAINS

The state railroad commission, in passing upon the petition of the Central of Georgia railroad to discontinue certain passenger services as a war measure, declined to allow the Central to take off all its accommodation trains between Atlanta and Jonesboro. The commission allowed the discontinuance of two of these trains, one in the morning and one at noon, but ordered the other three accommodations kept on. There are ten trains a day of the regular service between Atlanta and Jonesboro.

The commission declined to allow the road to discontinue its trains Nos. 21 and 22 between Macon and Millen.

The curtailment of passenger service between Columbus and Americus is held under advisement until a conference can be held to ascertain whether or not a satisfactory combination service cannot be arranged.

ENLISTMENT RECORDS EXCELLENT THURSDAY

Splendid Class of Men Accepted for Service During Day.

The enlistment of twenty-nine of the finest specimens of physical manhood that ever wore shoe leather and aspired to shoulder a rifle in the cause of American freedom was the result of yesterday's work at the Atlanta army recruiting station and officials there are highly pleased with their efforts.

Captain G. V. Heidt, who is in charge, stated that the number of applicants is steadily increasing every day as the selective draft time approaches and that the class of men who are enlisting are of the type most desired by all branches of the service.

"We are finding proof every day," he stated, "that Georgians are realizing the advisability of joining now rather than enter the war half trained, and consequently with only half a chance. The army offers good chance of promotion and now is the time for red-blooded men to enlist."

Age Limit Raised.

Lieutenant Atkinson, in charge of navy recruiting here, has recently received instructions that beginning Sunday no boys under 18 years of age will be accepted as apprentice seamen. It is also expected that the physical requirements will be raised in the near future and the young men who wish to enlist in this branch of the service are urged to apply at once.

Navy recruiting has been very satisfactory and the department is expected to soon attain its full quota. Several special ratings have already been filled, the yeomen, electricians and others, but there is still time for good men to enlist and have a good chance for promotion.

The regimental band of the Fifty-fifth infantry, recently created, is in need of the service of about 22 first-class musicians. It was decided that these men will rank well and will receive good pay. Applications for enlistment should be made at the recruiting office of the Fifty-fifth regiment at Fort McPherson.

In spite of the fact that enlistments are pouring in at the rate of 30 per day, the Quartermaster's Enlisted Reserve corps is still in need of a number of truck drivers, who are graded as sergeants and receive a salary of $44 per month and keep.

The department was authorized recently to enlist 40 sub-companies of 32 men each and already over 900 men have been enlisted. The ranks are being rapidly filled and those who desire to enter are urged to apply at once. Applications can be made at any of the local recruiting stations.

The marine corps also expressed great satisfaction with the bunch of "rookies" secured Thursday and the Fifth regiment was the scene of a general rush of applicants the entire day.

Governor Harris has appointed Calvin W. Parker, of Waycross, to succeed Volney Williams as umpire under the Tennessee Copper company contract to make damage awards among the farmers. The new umpire last night resigned his seat in the house of representatives, and a special election was ordered to be held in Ware county 20 days from today.

Among the names being mentioned as possible candidates for the vacancy are J. E. T. Bowden, former reading clerk of the house and a candidate in the last election for congress; L. J. Cooper, member of the last house, and John W. Bennett.

Family Row Offers Great Opportunity For Movie Scenario

If some writer of movie scenarios could have chanced at the police court Wednesday morning he would have been furnished with a domestic plot that would have staggered the imagination of the most versatile developers of dramatic complexities.

There was a wildly hysterical wife and mother, a calm and beautiful young daughter, an enraged brother, and a husband occupying a rather unenviable role. The wife had two living husbands, though one was divorced; the daughter had a husband in jail, the brother was under arrest, and the husband had married a grass widow with eleven children.

Mrs. Sadie Hearn, daughter of Mrs. C. L. Croker, of 176 South Pryor street, married Hearn, who was recently sent to jail. Her mother raised some kind of a row, so the daughter claimed, and Mrs. Hearn appealed to the police matron. She said she wanted to go to her father, R. D. Williams, who lives in Jackson, Miss. Mrs. Heard, the matron, wrote to Mr. Williams and he said he was willing to take his daughter.

C. L. Croker, who had married Williams' grass widow with eleven children, and who was separated from his wife, in some way heard about his step-daughter going away and announced that he was going to accompany her to Birmingham.

Arthur J. Williams, the brother of Mrs. Hearn, met Croker and Mrs. Hearn on the way to the depot and threatened, it is claimed, to "wipe him off the face of the earth." Williams was arrested and that is how the whole matter got into the police court.

At the trial Mrs. Croker denounced her second husband. She said that she had worked like a dog to raise eleven children and now her second husband was trying to run away with her daughter. She became hysterical and wept and screamed so in court that she had to be taken out until she calmed down.

Both Croker and the girl denied that there was anything between them. The young woman said that her mother abused her and she wanted to go away where she could work and make a living in peace.

Recorder Johnson said that Croker's actions were suspicious to say the least of it. He prohibited Croker from leaving the city with the girl, got the mother and daughter to make friends and dismissed the case against the young man.

Mrs. Hearn will probably go to her father in a few days.

CHLOROFORM BURGLARS ROB KIRKWOOD HOMES

Lady "Raffles" Must Have Been Member of Gang, Police Believe.

Citizens of Kirkwood are deeply stirred over the mysterious visit Thursday night of chloroform burglars, one of whom may have been a lady "Raffles." Four houses were entered, $70 in cash is missing, as well as a quantity of jewelry, and there is no clue.

"They must have gone up in an airplane," said one member of the Kirkwood marshal's force.

W. M. Sutton, 31 Metropolitan avenue, $35.

R. E. Magruder, 27 Douglas street, $1.

The burglar or burglars gained entrance to each house by removing screens from a window. Two ladies' linen handkerchiefs said to have been saturated with the drug were found by the occupants of the Hamilton and Almand residences.

Mrs. Almand and Mrs. Hamilton were nauseated by the after effect of the chloroform Thursday morning when they were awakened. Mr. Almand was sleeping so soundly from the effects that Marshal Phillips had some difficulty in arousing him from slumber when he arrived to investigate the mysterious affair. Not one of the occupants of the houses entered were aware that there had been a midnight marauder on the premises until they had been awakened Thursday.

High tribute was paid to the building committee of the new annex to the Jewish Progressive club on Capitol avenue at a meeting of the club last night. The committee consists of Joseph Loewus, Leon Eplan and Herman Weinberg.

The annual election of officers was held. The following were elected: Joseph Lazear, president; Alex Lipschutz, vice president; Mike Cohen, secretary, and I. Aplan, treasurer.

The formal opening of the new annex was held last night.

GOVERNOR WILL REVIEW TROOPS AT M'PHERSON

The last military act of Governor Nat E. Harris, whose term expires tomorrow, will be to review the troops at Fort McPherson, including the men of the officers' training camp, at 10 o'clock this morning.

At the invitation of Colonel Charles R. Noyes, commanding the fort, Governor Harris and his entire staff will review all the troops stationed at the fort.

In this review, hundreds of Georgians, as well as men from Alabama and Florida, who are studying for commissions at the officers' training camp, will pass before the civil war veteran for the last time before they are sent to France.

SAYS HUBBY THREATENED TO KILL HER AND SELF

Mrs. Monena A. Hayes does not desire to live with her husband any longer, but she would object to his "commiting suicide and killing her," both of which he threatened to do, according to her petition for divorce filed in the superior court Thursday. Mrs. Hayes also alleges that her husband was "insanely jealous," and that the usual complications which follow a jealous nature have "terminated in such treatment on his part that her nerves were affected, and she was made ill." The petition sets forth that Hayes had "spells," and had one on March last, which spell spelt "good-by" to Mrs. Hayes, and so they were separated. Mrs. Hayes asks custody of her 8-year-old daughter. Attorney Leo Sudderth filed the suit.

BARTOW COUNTY TO AID IMPROVE DIXIE HIGHWAY

County Commissioners Agree to Do Everything in Their Power to Assist.

The county commissioners of Bartow county have unanimously adopted a resolution offering the facilities and services of the county road construction forces and machinery for the improvement of roads in that county.

This action on the part of the Bartow commissioners is a part of the program of the Georgia State Automobile association and the Chattanooga Automobile club for the improvement of the Dixie highway between Fort Oglethorpe, at Chattanooga, and Fort McPherson and the supply depot at Atlanta, so that it may be used as a military highway.

B. A. Tyler, president of the Dalton Chamber of Commerce, which is aiding in this work, stated Thursday that all the north Georgia counties, through which the Dixie highway passes are cooperating in the improvement plan. Bartow will put its convict gang on this work, and Whitfield county has just bought a new truck to facilitate road work.

The following are the resolutions of the Bartow commissioners:

"Whereas, our nation is now in a state of war with a great military power of the world; and

"Whereas, in the necessity of the large draft of men and mobilization there will be increased need for transportation facilities; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the board of roads and revenues of Bartow county, Georgia, in session, this the 27th day of June, 1917, hereby tender and offer to the proper authorities of the United States government all the forces and equipment of said county that we may be able to command for constructing, building or bettering the condition of any highway in our county that will facilitate the handling or movement of troops and soldiers throughout our county as said United States authorities may suggest or direct.

(Signed) "G. H. GILBREATH,
"County Commissioner and Clerk of the Board.

"G. H. Gilbreath, Cartersville, Ga.; G. M. Boyd, Adairsville, Ga.; N. M. Adams, Cartersville, Ga.; N. A. White, Rydal Ga.; S. W. Bradford, Pine Log, Ga., commissioners."

PROGRAM IS READY FOR GREAT MEETING OF WOODMEN ORDER

The program of the 1917 convention of sovereign camps of Woodmen of the World, which will be held here in July, has been completed by the executive committee of the Atlanta camps in charge of preparations for the big event.

The convention will formally open on July 10, and more than 30,000 visitors are expected to be in attendance. In point of numbers indications are that the convention will be the largest in Atlanta since the memorable Shriners' convention in the spring of 1914.

Delegates from all parts of the United States will be present at the meetings of the sovereign camp, the Piedmont hotel being named convention headquarters. Thousands of Woodmen with their families will attend the convention, and it is expected that every hotel and boarding house in the city will be taxed to its maximum capacity.

The formal opening will take place in the Auditorium on the morning of July 10, when Mayor Candler and Governor Dorsey will deliver addresses of welcome. Morris Sheppard, United States senator from Texas, and sovereign banker of the order, is slated to respond for the visitors.

The program will last seven days, with a constant round of entertainments, such as band concerts, aviation flights, mimic air battles, competitive drills, athletic contests and many other features.

SYRIANS MUST BE GOOD OR VISIT FULTON TOWER

Unless certain factions of the Syrian population of Atlanta immediately reform, the Fulton Tower will become a regular tower of Babel, because Judge L. Z. Rosser, Jr., declared Thursday that he intends to deal with the "feudists" with an "iron hand." Since the small-size riot more than a year ago in Decatur street, when several Syrians were shot and cut, it is said that there has been more or less animosity between two factions of the Syrians.

Judge Rosser's warning resulted from the latest melee, which occurred this week and ended by warrants being taken out in municipal court against Esa Joseph and J. Joseph, and the placing of another Syrian in Grady hospital. Both of the Josephs are now confined in the Tower, under bond. The warrants were taken out by George Schire, and the cases were to have been tried Thursday, but were continued until Saturday.

MONEY-MAKING OIL LIKELY TO GUSH SOON NEAR MOBILE

Talk With Manager Thompson, of the Paterson Oil Company, About the Progress of Work on Their Well—Best Indications, He Says—Oil Lots for Sale to the Public at $5 Cash and $5 From Dividends Per Lot.

"I have put every dollar I could into the purchase of lots in the W. B. Paterson Oil Company's subdivision," said J. E. Thompson, manager of the company, "because I have every reason to feel that the company will bring in a big well in a very short time.

"Every experienced oil man in the Mobile fields knows that the site of the Paterson well is more favorable than most wells for oil and gas, which is borne out by two wells striking oil sands at 2,000 feet, one well to the east and the other to the west, both close to the Paterson well. Now, with the advantage of location given to it by nature, together with the drilling of the Paterson well being done by the company with its own organization of experienced men and competent, careful drillers under the guidance of the company's expert formation man and local geologist, I have every reason to know that the Paterson company should expect big results in a very little while.

"Likewise the surface indications at the Paterson well," continued Mr. Thompson, "are the best I have ever seen in any oil field, and nature doesn't honor a lie. There is sufficient natural gas in the creek from which water is obtained for the boiler at the well to blow a man up, and the surface oil upon the water is a magnificent showing.

"The company's men at the well, who are all experienced men, the head driller, geologist and formation expert and the men upon the rig, have purchased lots the same as I have. The citizens of Mobile have bought in the Paterson company on the average, according to the population of Mobile, the equal to a lot for every man in Mobile, and are continuing to purchase."

The office of the Paterson Oil Company in Atlanta, 418-19-20 Empire building, will give prompt attention to all applications or inquiries. Price of lots is $5 cash each and $5 to be collected from dividends. Deed is promptly given upon the payment of $5 per lot. Phone Ivy 6374.—(advertisement.)

GREAT CELEBRATION AT LAKEWOOD PARK ON FOURTH OF JULY

Booking of concessions for the midway of the great Fourth of July celebration which will be held at Lakewood are being steadily received, according to a statement just made by Beaumont Davison, chairman of the Fourth of July committee of the Southeastern Fair.

Arrangements have already been made for the Old Plantation show, the Headless Wonder, the Great Maireo, and many other similar feature attractions, and the inevitable cat racks, baby galleries, shooting galleries, country stores, confection stands and all such shops necessary to a successful midway will be very much in evidence.

More than forty entries have already been made for the horse races, and the list is not yet completed. Practice heats are being run every day at the Lakewood track.

Motorcyclists all over the south are entering the motorcycle races, and many local amateurs have signed up to compete for honors.

Work on the new $53,000 fair building in course of erection at the grounds is being rushed in the hope that the big military dance may be staged on its first floor.

The moving picture stadium, which will accommodate every visitor at the grounds, is being completed, and it is thought that the building will be finished, today. The building is a temporary one, made especially for the patriotic moving picture performance to which every person on the grounds will be admitted free of charge.

GENERAL WOOD HERE ON INSPECTION TOUR

General Leonard Wood, commander of the department of the southeast, United States army, was in Atlanta for several hours Thursday on a tour of inspection.

From Atlanta he left for army posts in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi. He will visit Alexandria, La., Sunday to inspect a site near that city as a possible location for one of the concentration camps.

While here he held an inspection and review of the student officers at Fort McPherson yesterday morning. The entire training regiment was turned out in heavy marching order, and the companies were put through individual drills. A thorough examination of rifles and equipment and a march past by the regiment completed the inspection.

The government aviation school at Georgia Tech has proved popular. Twenty-five students from McPherson will be detailed for the school when it opens, but already there have been over 175 applicants for the service. Twenty-five men will be sent down from Fort Oglethorpe.

It was announced at the post adjutant's office that 175 medical corps troops from the Twenty-fourth field hospital, stationed now at New Orleans, will be sent to Fort McPherson for instruction. These men will be used when their training is completed in caring for the men to be concentrated at the Silver Lake cantonments.

PRIESTS IN ENTOURAGE OF MERCIER ARRESTED

Amsterdam, June 28.—According to The Telegraaf, several priests of the entourage of Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, were arrested recently and imprisoned in Germany. One of them is Bishop LaGralve, of Malines. Twenty others, the newspaper says, has been imprisoned in Belgium. Among this number is Cardinal Mercier's private secretary, who was sentenced to a year in prison for preaching a sermon on Whitsunday on Christian charity.

Gulls Give Crackers Good Trimming

Edited by DICK JEMISON

THE KATZIES

By Air-Line Is the Quickest Route for der Captain

Crackers Show No Pepper, Play Erratically in Field, And Gulls Bunch Bingles

By Dick Jemison.

Frank Kitchens and his tail-end Gulls walked into C. Frank's Crackers at Poncey yesterday afternoon with all the fury of a club in the hunt for the pennant and when the smoke had cleared away the lowly Gulls were on the large end of an 8 to 2 count.

The Gulls' victory was clean-cut. They outplayed the Crackers all seven ways and back again. Pope outpitched Bressler, the Gulls individually and collectively outfielded the Crackers, they outhit them, they outfought them, they outcoached them and they outpepped them.

In no department of the game did the Crackers individually or collectively show the same class of stuff. The lowly worm turned and when it turned it turned in all its vengeance. Looking at Thursday's game, one would have thought it was the Gulls that were fighting for the pennant, with a good look-in, instead of the Crackers.

Griffith crashed up against the stands after a foul fly; they ran out every rap they made and with good results, as will be related later. They shook things up on the bench and they crabbed at every close decision that went against them.

Made Hits Count.

The Gulls gave the best example of hitting them in the pinches that it has been our pleasure to witness at Poncey this season. They made every one of their hits count with the exception of one. They made nine hits and eight of them were responsible for runs.

Ashley Pope, former Sally league twirler, twirled a mighty useful game. He held the Crackers to five widely scattered hits. What with, we were unable to see from the press box. He seemed to have a slow one, one a little slower and an alleged spitter that sailed away from the plate or through the Crackers' bats, and we are positive that there were no holes in the bats either.

Pope must have had something, for he had the Crackers busy popping up all afternoon. The Crackers did not hit but five balls on the ground all during the engagement.

Rube Bressler seemed to have plenty of stuff on the ball, but when he got it over the plate the Gulls either rode it "where they ain't" or some Cracker would accommodatingly boot it.

Fielding Horrible.

If there was any handle on that old baseball during the game it broke off every time it was hit to a Cracker. The locals contributed seven miscues to the league records for compilation and to the Gulls as souvenirs of an easy victory.

Devoid of any pep whatsoever, the Crackers seemed a licked ball club after the first inning. They did manage to tie the game up in the fifth inning, due to temporary generosity on the Gulls' part, but quickly tossed it away again in subsequent innings.

In all the mixture of putrid fielding there were a couple of bright spots. Roy Moran contributed a long running catch in deep left center, robbing Lunte of an extra base hit, and stole one from Golvin with a one-handed shoestring catch.

That the Crackers miss Reilly from the lineup was evidenced by their lack of pepper all through the game. "Pep" Perkins kept up a chatter and tried to wake up his mates with his conversation, but got little encouragement. The only time we heard any noise from the bench was when Tex McDonald was in from the field or Tom Sheehan was not on the coaching lines.

But, every club has its off days. The Crackers had a bad enough off day Thursday to kick all their putrid playing out of their systems for a month. We warned them not to treat the Gulls too lightly. Maybe Thursday's drubbing will show the locals the error of their ways and start them scrapping today and playing regular baseball. At least we hope so.

How They Scored.

Meyers got a base on balls to start the game for the Gulls. Lunte sacrificed and Jansen smashed a single to right, scoring Meyers. Pinch-hit No. 1.

Thrasher's double, a wild pitch and Moran's sacrifice fly gave the Crackers one in the fourth. They tied it up in the fifth on Munch's infield hit, Perkins' sacrifice, McDowell's error and a passed ball.

In the Gulls' sixth, with two gone, Griffith singled to right, Thrasher's great one-handed stop holding it to a single. Bowden slammed a triple to left, scoring Griffith. Pinch-hit No. 3. Then, when Bressler threw the relay wild to third, Bowden also cantered home.

In the seventh, with two gone, Jansen walked. Reed singled to right and when Thrasher played with the ball, Jansen, who had cantered the third, came on home. Pinch-hit No. 4.

In the eighth, McDonald fumbled taps by Bowden and McDowell. Bowden was out trying to steal third. Golvin singled, sending McDowell to third. Meyers hit a fly to Thrasher, who dropped it, McDowell and Golvin scoring and Meyers pulling up at third. Lunte singled to left, scoring Meyers. Pinch-hit No. 5.

Today's Batteries.

Day and Marshall will be the probable twirlers in today's game. Perkins and Kitchens will work behind the bat.

In Saturday's double-header, Ad Brennan, former Cracker, will face his old teammates in the opening game, with Bennett working in the windup. Fullenweider and Sheehan will probably work for the Crackers.

This schedule of twirlers depends, of course, on whether or not the twirlers go the route.

Nashville, Tenn., June 28.—Ellis did not permit a Little Rock batter to pass second base, while Nashville mixed passes with hits and easily won the opening game of the series, 6 to 0. Manager Ellam made four singles in as many times at bat. His hitting was largely responsible for the Champs' scoring. Five double plays were made during the game.

Birmingham, June 28.—Clark's double, scoring Coombs, was the deciding run of today's game between Birmingham and New Orleans, the former winning, 1 to 0. It was a pitchers' battle between Ponder and Walker. The Pels had several excellent opportunities to score, but fast infield work cut two men off at the plate. The fielding of Caton featured. The defeat of the Pels narrowed the lead of Atlanta, who was also defeated, over the Barons to one game, while the Pels lead the Crackers by two games.

McPherson Student Officers' Nine to Play at Oglethorpe

Many Ex-College Stars on Line-Up of Local Bunch That Goes to Fort McPherson July Fourth.

A baseball team, with several all-southern men in its line-up, is to be picked from the officers' training camp at Fort McPherson to meet a team from the Chattanooga training camp at Fort Oglethorpe on the Fourth, and the McPherson boys are keen for the contest.

A. K. Franklin, in charge of the recreational work at the camp Y. M. C. A., has charge of the project.

Among the likely candidates are Charley Cox, former Red and Black star and an all-southern man for two years; Dick Stevens, of Mercer, who wall all-southern pitcher this year; Bobby McWhorter, the Georgia center-fielder; Ginn, right fielder, also of Georgia; George Harrison, ex-Marist, Red and Black and Cracker star, and Trammell Scott, former Georgia first sacker.

This team will be chosen from the company teams which have been regularly at work for some time. A league has been formed among these, and A. G. Spalding Company has offered a medal to each man of the winning team.

A special train will be run up to Oglethorpe on the Fourth. This day has been given to the students as a full holiday and it is expected that a big crowd of future officers from McPherson will be on hand to witness the combat with the embryo leaders of Fort Oglethorpe. A second game here may be arranged for the following week, but this is not yet certain.

BESCHER REFUSES TO JOIN COLONELS

St. Louis, June 28.—Robert Bescher, left fielder for the St. Louis Nationals, has refused to join the Louisville American Association team, though the St. Louis club, according to President Rickey, had arranged to pay the larger share of his salary while he played with Louisville.

Bescher will not go with the St. Louis team when they go on their road tour tonight, Rickey announced. Rickey said today Bescher's salary was $6,200 a year.

BUNNY BRIEF SOLD TO LOUISVILLE CLUB

Louisville, Ky., June 28.—Announcement was made here today that A. J. (Bunny) Brief, who was released by the Pittsburgh National league team, has been secured by the Louisville American Association club and will report at once.

Brief was purchased from Salt Lake City of the Pacific Coast league. Pittsburg had returned him to that club after a thirty-day option.

Tri-State Shoot.

Memphis, Tenn., June 28.—Jake Gibbs, professional, of Union City, Tenn., won high score honors in the tri-state trap shooting tournament, which ended here today, by breaking 394 targets out of a possible 400 in the two days of registered events and George Schmidt, Memphis, topped the amateurs with a total score of 383.

Gibbs was high over all for the final day's shooting, with 195 breaks out of 200 targets, and Otis Dorchester, of Dallas, Texas, was high amateur with 192.

A feature of today's events was the perfect shooting of a squad composed of Gibbs, Schmidt, William Ridley, of What Cheer, Iowa, and Hill Martin and Harry Bellinger, of Memphis, each of whom broke twenty straight in one of the events. The same feat was accomplished by another squad yesterday.

WHIFFS

Should Get It.

NEW YORK scribes are demanding that the McGraw case be reopened by the National league, McGraw repudiated the reported interviews in which he was quoted as panning the league head recently. The scribes do not intend to be made the goat and they should have their side heard.

The Biggest Ever.

THE FINE plastered on McGraw was the biggest that has ever been assessed on any manager or ball player in the history of baseball, as far as we have been able to ascertain. McGraw was fined $500 and suspended for sixteen days. Our recollection is that $200 was the largest penalty before inflicted.

May See Change.

THERE MAY BE a change in the standing of the three leading teams in the Southern league pennant race by the middle of next week. The league leading Pelicans are now playing the Birmingham Barons and Monday they come to Atlanta for a series. In all the Pels will play eight games with their chief competitors and on hostile soil as well. The Pels will have to show better form on the road than they did on their last trip if they hope to retain the lead in the face of such tough opposition as the Barons and Crackers will furnish.

The Pinch Hits.

SINCE JUNE 14 when we took charge of the official scoring of the Crackers we kept a record of the runs driven in by Cracker batsmen, just as a matter of curiosity. Jake Munch, first-sacker, has the honor of driving in the most runs with 14, but he is being closely pushed by Sammy Mayer with 13 and Roy Moran with 12. These three have been wielding the most wicked bludgeons during the present home stay.

Sunday a Jinx.

SUNDAY games are a jinx to the Yankees. Donovan's American league entry has engaged in five Sabbath pastimes this season and have dropped every one of them. Four of the defeats have been by the margin of one run. It's a good thing the Yanks haven't got many Sunday games.

To Montreal.

WAITE HOYT, the school boy twirler sent to the Memphis Chicks by McGraw and then returned to the Giants by the Chicks, has been sent to Montreal in the International league by the Giants. McGraw still has confidence in the youngster's ability to make a good twirler.

Quite a Record.

WHEN CORRIDEN, third baseman of the Louisville team, was absent from the line-up last Sunday, he broke a record that has never been surpassed by a baseball team, as far as we know. Kirke, McCarty, Roach and Corriden is the Colonels' infield. This infield played in 232 consecutive games without a one of the quartet being missing from the line-up, 167 games last season and 65 this year.

Closed steady.

New York, June 28.—The cotton market turned easier after an early advance today, with October contracts selling off from 26.85 to 26.15 and closing at 26.42. The general list closed irregular at a net decline of 11 to 16 points.

The market opened firm at unchanged prices to an advance of 26 points and sold about 20 to 30 points net higher right after the call. There had been some selling here late yesterday on private reports of rains in the southwest which were not shown on this morning's map. The early buying included covering by these sellers, while there was also a moderate demand from houses with Liverpool connections.

Around 27.11 for July and 27.00 for December the market met a good deal of realizing, however, and prices soon turned easier.

An idea that detailed weather reports would show more precipitation than indicated by the early map was not entirely borne out by their actual showing, but there were further private reports of showers in droughty sections and crop advices reaching here from the belt were more favorable, on the average. These reports led to increased offerings during the afternoon, while trade buying was much less in evidence, and for a time the market was weak with July selling off to 26.58 and December to 26.30. This made a decline of 32 to 43 points from last night's closing figures and of 70 points from the early high level on new crop positions. Offerings then tapered off, with last prices showing rallies of some 25 to 30 points from the lowest.

The completed report of a southern statistical bureau was published before the opening, indicating a condition of 69.3 compared with a preliminary report of 68.7 last week and the government's figures of 69.5 last month.

Private cables reported that Liverpool would reopen tomorrow, that a committee had been created to fix prices each day before the opening, and that trading would be restricted to Lancashire interests.

Port receipts 9,677. United States port stocks 798,257.

Cotton, spot, quiet; middling 27.15.

In New Oleans.

New Orleans, June 28.—After an initial bulge the tendency of cotton here was downward today, the trade construing unfavorably the announcement of the reopening of the Liverpool market tomorrow under government control and close restrictions. Also, reports of scattered showers in the belt raised hope that drouthy conditions were about to be relieved.

Around the opening active months were 12 to 33 points up, from which there was a net decline to a loss of 57 to 58 points. The close showed a net loss of 18 to 27 points. During most of the session October and December were the only active months. Trading in July was extremely limited and some brokers considered that position had been liquidated.

The early rise was due to a private condition report of 69.3 per cent of the normal, which indicated a loss for the month of a point and was accepted as additional evidence of a bullish bureau report next Monday. After the call the demand fell off and it did not revive to any extent.

Spots were raised 12 points to 26 cents for middling which was a new high level.

Sales on the spot 1,016 bales; to arrive 2,025; good ordinary 24.62; strict good ordinary 25.12; low middling 25.62; strict low middling 25.81; middling 26.00; strict middling 26.19; good middling 26.37; strict good middling 26.55. Receipts 1,907; stock 203,721.

Sugar.

New York, June 28.—The market for raw sugar was fairly active again today with prices strong and higher on continued buying by local refiners. The day's business included about 3,500 bags of Cubas for prompt shipment at 5 5-16c, cost and freight, equal to 6.33 for centrifugal; 18,700 bags clearance July 10 at the same price and about 45,000 bags for second half July shipment at 5⅜ cents, cost and freight, equal to 6.39 for centrifugal. There were also sales of 12,800 bags of Columbian sugar in port at 5¼c c. i. f. and it was said that further sales were made to Europe at 4.90c f. o. b. Cuba. The market closed strong with buyers for prompt and July shipment willing to pay 5⅜c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.30 for centrifugal and 5.51 for molasses.

Refined sugar was also firm with two of the leading refiners advancing prices 25 points to the basis of 8.00 for fine granulated. One was still accepting small orders at 7.50, while the two others are out of the market entirely. The demand was good and it was rumored that 5,000 tons were sold for export at 6.75.

The steadily advancing raw market led to further active buying in the market for sugar futures and the close was strong at net advances of 12 to 14 points. Trade interests were conspicuous buyers of September, while there was also a good demand from outside sources and shorts covered. Sales were 29,250 tons. July sold from 5.27 to 5.36, closing 5.37; September, 5.46 to 5.55, closing 5.54; December, 5.35 to 5.45, closing 5.43; March, 4.91 to 4.95, closing 4.94.

Marshall Wins at Eatonton.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, June 28.—(Special.)—Profit taking has been in evidence the entire day, without the usual supporting orders to absorb the offerings, so that the market has gradually declined. Several points in Texas had local showers yesterday afternoon, but no general rains, which is wanted over the southern and western part of the state; elsewhere the weather appears to be favorable to the growing crop. It would appear from the action of the traders that they think from now on the course of prices will be governed by the weather. Should it continue unfavorable in Texas, the market would quickly respond.

THUNDERSHOWERS WILL RELIEVE TODAY'S HEAT

Bathing pools, the lakes of private clubs and the public lake at Piedmont Park have daily been visited by thousands of citizens, small and large, young and old, during the last few days. Aquatic sports are the order of the day.

Thursday the official thermometer on top of the Empire building reached a high altitude of 89 degrees at 2 p. m., ranging upward from 70 degrees at 7 o'clock in the morning, 83 degrees at 10 o'clock and 85 degrees at noon.

SHERIFFS OF GEORGIA MEET HERE TOMORROW

The first convention of Georgia sheriffs will begin tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Red Men's hall. Sheriff Lowry stated that he believed at least 75 officials would attend. It is planned to make this convention an annual affair. The sheriffs will be in session two days.

BUSINESS IN WHEAT FADED TO A SHADOW

Chicago, June 28.—Authoritative notice that even restricted trading in wheat for future delivery would soon be a thing of the past caused business in that cereal today to fade away to a shadow.

At the close the market was called steady, 1½ to 4 cents net lower, with July quoted at $2.01 and September at $1.81½.

Corn finished unchanged to ½c higher and oats up ⅝@¾c to 2@2⅛c. Provisions scored gains of a shade to 5c.

Interest of wheat traders centered almost wholly as to the methods to be adopted for government control of food supplies. Righ at the outset prices dropped quite sharply on account of prospect of immediate embargoes to reduce exports to European neutrals. Later announcement that the administration at Washington would completely dominate the distribution of wheat, both for domestic and export purposes and that option dealings in wheat would be abolished brought the market to nearly a standstill. Business in the future delivery pit ceased altogether for an interval, but no further decline was noted in values.

Although no action has been taken to remove the maximum price limit on corn and no such action is contemplated, the corn market made a temporary upturn owing partly to mistaken inferences that complete removal of all checks on high prices of corn might be looked for. Signs of active demand from exporters tended also to give strength to the market, but recommendations in Kansas where drought had been complained of counted in favor of the bears.

Oats, like corn, developed a tendency to jump, owing more or less to wrong conclusions that the maximum price limit on corn might be cancelled. Besides, crop reports were less favorable than has recently been the case, and there was continued liberal buying on seaboard account.

Support from packers more than overcame declines in the provision market. The transient weakness was associated with smallness of shipments as compared with a year ago.

Government Supplies Labor.

Washington, June 28.—Harvesting of the winter wheat crop is well under way in all southern states.

Co-operation between the departments of agriculture and labor has been arranged so as to have laborers on the farms where the crop is ready to be harvested. Information prepared by the department of agriculture as to the localities where harvesting is expected to be in progress from ten days to two weeks later will enable the department of labor and state agencies to anticipate labor needs and secure better distribution of farm help.

STOCKS IRREGULAR; WEAK AT THE CLOSE

Call Loans Opened Under Six Per Cent, and Time Money Was in Increased Demand—Bonds Irregular.

New York, June 28.—Although monetary conditions continued to relax and the first large payment on the Liberty Loan was made without disturbance, today's stock market experienced a very irregular session of impaired prices, attributed mainly to technical influences.

For the first time in more than a fortnight call loans opened under 6 per cent and time money was in increased supply.

The weakened position of numerous specialties, notably motors and utilities, and renewed concern regarding the attitude of the government towards war prices and taxes, impelled further liquidation and considerable short selling. Extreme declines in active stocks ran from 2 to almost 10 points, depression extending to minor specialties of no specific classification.

Popular industrials, such as United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel and kindred issues, were carried down 1 to 3 points on the movement, which was at its height in the final hours, when support was lacking except at marked concessions.

Final quotations were at or near lowest of the day. Especial points of weakness included Studebaker common and preferred, Chandler and General Motors, at gross reversals of 3½ to 5 points; Industrial Alcohol, which made a precipitate drop of 9 to 150; Ohio Gas 6¼; Brooklyn Union Gas 11¼ to 105 on a single sale; Wilson Company 4½; International Paper 5½; Malting preferred 5; Distillers Securities 2½; Texas Company 3; Mexican Petroleum 2¾.

Rails, coppers, [illegible]ings, Central Leather and tobaccos [illegible] relatively better than most other [illegible]s, but averaged losses of 1 to 2 [illegible]nts on moderate offerings. Total sales amounted to 790,000 shares.

Favorable May statements submitted by Union Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio, the prosperous industrial conditions indicated in the annual report of the American Car and Foundry Company, and the May foreign trade exhibit seemed to exert no influence.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, aggregated $2,420,000.

All sales of Liberty 3½s were at par or better.

NO VERDICT REACHED IN TRIAL OF YARTER

Indications Were Late Last Night Jury Would Not Be Able to Agree.

The jury in the case of Jerome Yarter, taxi driver, who has been on trial several days in Judge Hill's court, on a charge of taking part in the robbery of Paymaster A. H. Boykin, of the Martel Manufacturing company, had failed to come to an agreement at a late hour last night and was locked up for the night.

Yarter's trial has attracted much attention, principally on account of the introduction of the dictograph evidence which figured in the trial of "Boots" Rogers for taking part in the same affair of which Yarter was accused. Rogers was freed.

The defendant presented an alibi by a number of witnesses, and an eyewitness to the robbery testified that Yarter was not one of the bandits.

TEACHERS ELECTED AND ARE ASSIGNED

the superintendent as many new high school teachers as he considered necessary. The superintendent pointed out that the request for 13 more teachers was based on an increase of 400 additional students from the grammar schools having registered for the various high schools already this year.

The board authorized the renting of an eight-room building on Central avenue, near the Girls' High School, for next year's use in taking care of the overflow at this high school.

The board also authorized the transfer of $800 from the salary of directors, and $366, making a total of $1,166, from the salary of school janitors to pay the salary of a business manager of schools for the remaining months of this year. By this means a salary of $2,000 will be provided for Professor L. M. Landrum, provided council and the aldermanic board create this new position.

"Simple Examinations."

When R. J. Guinn, president of the board, stated that he would recommend the giving of "simple examinations" to such of the 22 white and 80 colored teachers who have deficiencies chalked against them, in order to save them to the school department as teachers rather than discharge them, provided they were competent in other lines, this remark brought forth objection from Mr. Hatcher.

"I am not in favor of any such discrimination in favor of any set of teachers or teacher. We notified the teachers nine months ago that they must pass off their deficiencies. Some of them resigned. Some failed and have been dropped. I am in favor of dropping those who did not pass immediately if we could fill their places. As we cannot fill all the places, I am in favor of dropping those with the worst deficiencies against them and substituting applicants who have passed the exams. By letting these teachers continue in service the board of education virtually admits that it cannot get sufficient competent teachers for all grades."

George Eubanks, eighth ward representative, and James L. Key upheld Mr. Hatcher in his remarks, declaring that all exams should be of a standard and uniform and "not too hard."

A resolution was passed authorizing larger pay for teachers of special classes, in which delinquent and dull children are taught.

Smith's Salary Cut.

J. H. Smith, assistant principal of the Commercial High school, had his salary cut $5 a month, the assistant principal's position at this school being abolished and the money being transferred to pay the increased salary of an assistant principal at the Girls' High school. Mr. Smith was elected head of the bookkeeping department.

The board voted to have afternoon and night schools at the Tech High school next year, provided money can be obtained from council.

The board made certain qualifications for all principals of high schools elected hereafter. The applicants must be graduates of a reputable college, must have had a training course in some professional teachers' school and must have had successful experience.

The board made no changes in the recommendations of the election and assignment of teachers as made by Superintendent Wardlaw.

As recommended and assigned by the superintendent, the board affirmed the following list of teachers:

Telegraph Society Will Be Organized By W. U. Employees

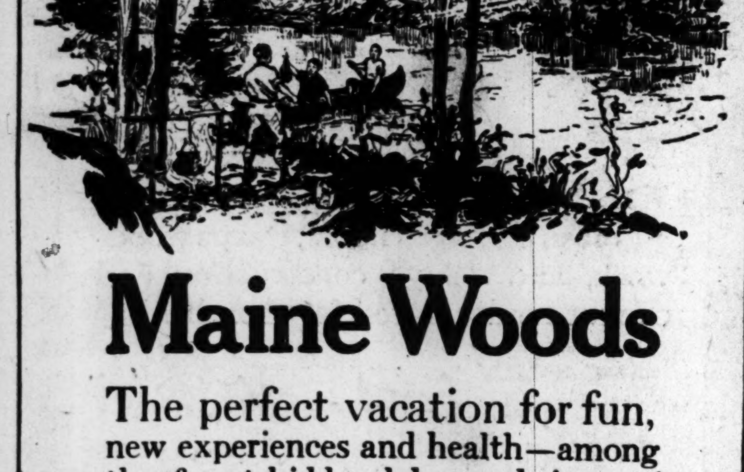

More than one hundred and fifty enthusiastic employees from all departments of the Western Union Telegraph company in Atlanta met on Thursday evening at the Chamber of Commerce hall for the purpose of developing whether a telegraph society was wanted by the employees. The vote was unanimous for the organization of such a society and a second meeting will be held at an early date to elect officers. W. G. Peebles, manager, was made temporary chairman, and T. C. Alston temporary secretaary.

General Manager Herbert C. Worthen, was present and made a short, forceful address, advocating the virtues of such a society and gave a few, well-chosen words of advice. He also called attention to the Red Cross, its needs and its mission, and within fifteen minutes subscriptions of the amount of $405 poured in fro mthose present.

V. J. Hurley, of the accounting department, sprung a most pleasant surprise when under his direction the Knights of Columbus Choral society rendered some beautiful songs in a most pleasing manner. William Morris, of the bookkeeping department, and Hugh Connally, of the telephone company, also favored the audience with solos.

Mrs. Howard—"The walls of your house are very thin, aren't they?"
Mrs. Coward—"Oh, very! We could actually hear our neighbors having celery for dinner yesterday!"—Tit-Bits.

AMUSEMENTS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

Jennie McLaughlin, the girl in "The Girl in the Moon," appears in the most refreshing bit of vaudeville yet seen in Atlanta at the Lyric theater for the week-end.

"The Girl in the Moon" is an artistically staged affair, having scenic effects that bewilder the eye. Jennie McLaughlin riding on a half-moon that, rising out of the pale light of myriad small lights from the back of the stage, floats out and above the audience, while she sings to her audience in a sweet soprano that endears herself to the hearts of her listeners.

Grace Roberts, as the fairy in the act, is attractive in the introductory, and Floyd Preston, the mechanic who arranges the scenery, deserves mention for his work.

This lone act is well worth the price of admission at the Lyric this week-end, but it is supplemented by other good acts.

Myrtle Young and Jack Waldron stage a bit of fun and comedy, good songs and eccentric dancing in their skit, "Dance and Grow Thin." Myrtle is an attractive blonde who wears stunning clothes, can sing and dance, and has a smile than wins her way into the heart of her audience. Her dancing in costumes of great attractiveness is above par. Waldron sings some funny songs and scores a big hit with the audience with his dances.

Then there are Mayo and Tally, singers. One has a baritone voice that is exceptional, and the other a tenor of pleasing quality.

Herbert Lloyd and company of entertainers stage some funny stunts in impersonations and fake juggling. The close of this act presents two pretty girls costumed in the colors of the various allied nations.

"The Honeymooners," a rather pretentiously-staged act, giving an insight into life on a yacht at sea on which the honeymooners are taking their trip, is good in spots. The negro cook, Nate Busy, is especially good in his "jig" dances.

TILLOU FORBES.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Memories of the long ago were brought vividly back to the minds of scores of Atlanta theatergoers yesterday afternoon and last night when Mabel Paige—long a favorite here in stock performances at various theaters of this city—opened a three days' engagement at the Grand as the headliner of the Loew vaudeville bill being given there for the week-end.

In "Little Lord Fauntleroy" and in hundreds of other roles she had won her friends here, and Thursday she showed that she had lost none of her old magnetism or ability by her work in "The Lesson," a very entertaining comedy playlet, with plenty of clever lines and laughable situations.

Warm applause from the audience proved their appreciation of her skill in the character of a wife, who, left alone at home, while husband paid his nightly visit to the club, has an exciting, although humorous, experience with a rather philosophical burglar, who is fond enough of a game of cards to risk a few hands, even though husband and the police may interfere at any moment.

There are three other acts, and a picture, "The Fires of Rebellion," in which Dorothy Phillips stars, the whole rounding out a bill which seemed to thoroughly please Thursday's audiences.

In fact it would have been hard for even the most blase theatergoer to keep from applauding the number of Misses Flo and Ollie Walters, a couple of pretty young women, who get the utmost out of their program of dance and song. To add to their looks and to their ability as entertainers, a word is in order about their costumes. They fitted in with the style of entertainment offered and that is saying sufficient. Their act is of a refreshing nature, appealing through charm and daintiness, and minus the attempt to please through salacious appeal.

Stanley and Burns, in ragtime dancing and lively chatter, and Helene and Emilion in an acrobatic turn, complete a worth-while bill.

ROBERT MORAN.

"Skinner's Dress Suit."

(At the Strand.)

Bryant Washburn is the star at the Strand theater today and Saturday in the Essanay feature, "Skinner's Dress Suit." The story is of a bank clerk whose wife, who is ambitious for him, makes him purchase a dress suit in order that he may "spruce up" some. With the "front" he finds himself gradually getting into society. One fine day he stumbles upon a big business deal and lands it, thereby winning for himself a partnership in the company. The plot is worked out from Hendy Dodge Irving's amusing story which appeared in The Saturday Evening Post.

Bessie Barriscale.

(At the Odeon.)

"Hater of Men," with Bessie Barriscale in the leading part, is the Triangle play at the Odeon theater today and is an engrossing narrative of the Fourth Estate, the unweaving of which offers the star many opportunities. She is cast as a young newspaper woman who tires of the society of her usual companions and takes up a Bohemian life. Later she sees that she has lost the respect of her friends and returns to her former life and the man she loves. There will be shown a clever comedy today as an added feature entitled "Dad's Downfall." On Saturday the attraction is Emmy Wehlen in "The Duchess of Doubt"

Special Performance.

(At Alamo No. 2.)

Alla Axiom, the psychic, who is appearing as a special attraction at Alamo No. 2, will give a special performance for ladies this morning at 10 o'clock, when he will endeavor to answer all of the questions asked. This is quite a task, especially if the ladies are on hand in such numbers as upon the previous performance given for ladies. However, Axiom says he can do it, and what he says usually comes out right. The picture program for today is headed by that dainty little screen star, Ann Pennington, who will appear in the principal part in her latest Paramount picture, "The Little Boy Scout."

Marjorie Rambeau.

(At the Vaudette.)

Marjorie Rambeau, one of the successful Broadway stage favorites, will be at the Vaudette theater today and Saturday in a very mysterious Mutual production, "The Dazzling Miss Davidson." Miss Rambeau is given a most unusual part and she makes the most of her opportunity. The picture tells of the working of society vultures, how the New York police trace down evildoers. How pickpockets prey upon rich persons even in their own homes. The whole is worked into a baffling mystery which is not solved until the very last foot of the film. An added attraction is a new Mutual weekly.

BARTOW ELECTROCUTED.

Steel Worker Meets Death at Swift Refining Company.

When a long steel pole which he was carrying over his shoulder touched a voltage wire at the plant of the Swift Refining company Thursday morning, Edwin Bartow, a steel worker, was electrocuted. The accident happened at 11 o'clock near the tracks of the Southern railroad below Humphries street.

Bartow was one of the squad of workers engaged in the construction of a steel building for the refining plant.

The dead man lived in Berrien street; was 28 years old, and is survived by his wife and two sons, Robert and William Bartow. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Harry Poole.

SHOWING EFFICIENCY OF DEMOCRACY AT WAR

America Demonstrating Its Unity of Spirit, Daniels Tells Middies.

Annapolis, Md., June 28.—America is demonstrating to the world that a democracy of a hundred million persons can wage war efficiently and with unity of spirit, Secretary Daniels declared today in a commencement address to nearly 200 members of the Naval academy third-year class, whose graduation was advanced by a year to provide officers for fighting ships.

"Those who prophesied that America would not go wholeheartedly into this war have been discredited," said the secretary.

"Our traditional policy has been against any but voluntary military service. When conditions demanded the selective draft it was written into law. There were those who told us men of military age would not enroll and riots would mark the day of registration. Instead it was a day of consecration, and the enrollment was larger than the census figures indicated.

"Congress authorized the issue of two billions of bonds for war preparation. The bond issue will be a failure,' croaked a few pessimists. Their croaking was drowned by the multitude of voices offering hard-won savings as freely as surplus wealth.

"Upon the heels of this unprecedented investment, the Red Cross society launched a campaign to raise an hundred million dollars for that beneficent world-wide work of mercy. 'It is impossible,' was the comment of a few. The faith of the noble men and women with visions was more than justified when more was given than had been asked.

"Congress is now engaged in writing a taxing bill. There is no division in congress except as to sources of taxation, and the people will pay without protest whatever it may cost to carry this war to a successful conclusion.

"In the navy and in the marine corps, the chief problem has not been to secure the man power needed, but rather have the navy's resources been taxed to house and uniform and equip the thousands who flocked to the standard at the president's first call, and the army is securing all the men who can be trained.

"We are going to war without passion, without hatred, without lust for land, without a trace of vengeance. We do not hate the people we are to fight. We hate only the autocracy which harnesses them to the juggernaut. Our victory will not only make the world safe for democracy, will not only strengthen self-government and end the fiction of divine right, but it will also bring to the German people a new breath of liberty and hope for the day when they will govern themselves and be no longer the paws of militarism."

Lassen National Park.

Many persons who desire to see volcanic phenomena will visit the new Lassen Volcanic National Park this season. A month after congress made it a national park last summer the volcano broke into eruption and the region is still actively disturbed.

Lassen Park is in northern California. It is one of the celebrated peaks of the Cascade range, which include Mount Baber, Mount Hood, Mount Shasta and what was once Mount Mazama, but is now Crater Lake. Few of the ice-plated volcanoes of this range are extinct in a geological sense of the word; several of them have areas on their sides where snow melts, or have hot springs in their neighborhoods; Lassen peak is the only one actually active within history.

The rose must have been Shakespeare's favorite flower, if one with so catholic a taste can be said to have favored one above another. He speaks of it at least eighty times, using it in several cases as the symbol of perfection—as where Ophelia describes Hamlet as "the 'rose' of the fair state."

BOB'S "PROFITLESS" SALE

BOB HAYES

Starts Saturday

¶ Maybe you would be interested in my reason for putting on a thirty-day sale out of which I do not expect to make any profit.

¶ It's just like this:

¶ I bought very freely of spring and summer goods, anticipating a larger trade than I have enjoyed.

¶ Understand, I am not complaining. My sales have been good—very good.

¶ But the continued cool weather, combined with war preparations of all kinds, leaves me with a large stock of summer Suits, Shirts, Hats, Neckwear, etc., on hand, which I must get rid of to make room for my fall stock.

¶ I haven't the room to carry over this stock—even if I had the capital. Having neither, it will be to my advantage—and money in your pocket—to let all this spring and summer stock go at cost—let you have it for the next thirty days—if the stock holds out that long—without a cent of profit.

¶ That's the reason of my "Profitless" sale.

Business Battle Plans

The audit of your business is the foundation of the plans for your commercial battles. Without it you cannot accurately measure your resources and know what you have to depend on.

We supply the foundation for your business battle plans. It shows you your strong and your weak points. It enables you to see clearly just what you can do and, often, how you can do it.

It is said that Al Schacht, of the Rochester International league team, is the only Hebrew pitcher in professional baseball.

"Rabbit" Maranville, who holds the big league record for quick recovery from serious injuries, is once more playing his star game for the Braves.

Many fans are of the opinion that "Babe" Ruth would be even a better hitter if he was in the game every day. Perhaps the Red Sox heaver will tackle the outfield when his pitching days are over.

Having gotten away to an excellent start, Pitcher Williams, of the White Sox, has a good chance to make a name for himself this season.

The National league boasts of 30 men hitting for .300 or better, while in the American league only 11 pastimers are batting in the fast set.

It was a sure bet that once Ty Cobb got his optics trained on the ball he would step out in front among the American league batsmen.

Despite the absence of .300 hitters from their line-up, the New York Yankees have been putting up a grand battle in the American league pennant race.

Cleveland and Cincinnati each has four players among the dozen leading base-stealers in their respective leagues. The Cleveland quartet is composed of Roth, Chapman, Speaker and Wambsganss, while the four champion pilferers for the Reds are Chase, Neale, Thorpe and Kopf.

A new contrivance described in Scientific American promises to keep the kinks out of flexible telephone cords. The device consists of "two small composition parts tourning on a central spindle, all inclosed in two brass shells or covers. Between the two rotating parts are two ball races that serve both as fractional bearings and as conducting means. The cord terminals are easily connected to the binding screws on each part, and there is ample room for a strain knot within each shell. The freedom of the swiveling of the two halves eliminates the snarling of the cord."
